What are reflections? Surely not passing thoughts or mere transitory moods. Our reflections are of a two-fold nature; the visual and the thoughtful; the ephemeral and the lasting.

When we reflect on Middle Tennessee State University we reflect on the whole panorama of the past year—the past years. Friends, books, the future, the past, the coming of age are all part of our thought. Our feelings, our beliefs, our memories, our yearnings are all part of that panorama.

When we reflect on Middle Tennessee State University we reflect on our sensations when we walk into a new class or meet a new person or make a new discovery.

REFLECT on the first hint of frost on the ground—the first snow, unseasonably soon—the first snow welcomed for its novelty yet dreaded for its hint of things to come. The fall colors, with a hint of life and death both present in their variety, are reflected in the pools of rainwater not yet dried from annoying yet refreshing showers. This too is part of the panorama.

REFLECT on the respites at home—the getting away from the books—and the return, somehow welcomed, somehow dreaded. The Thanksgiving dinner and the Christmas tree—the parties and the solemnities. There is the rush of days—the time so precious before final examinations yet spent, so often, in things that are trivial but remembered so long—dates, all-night discussions, movies, fun nights. This too is part of the panorama.

REFLECT on the pride of the student body in its attendance of the football games. Win, lose, or draw, there is a feeling binding all together from the first game on. There is our pride when the Raiders come through in the clutch and our disappointment when we fail but there is always a pride—a feeling that this is our team, our friends, our school, at work for us. Reflect further on the splash of color—the exuberant mingled with the sedate—the thrill and the letdown. This too is part of the panorama.

REFLECT on the first day of classes—the cool mornings and the heat of the afternoon. The glow of vacation balancing itself against the excitement of a new year—a year to start anew—a year for new adventure. There are the teachers whom we expect and the ones we fear, those who are friends and those who are new to us. This is part of the beginning of school; this too is part of the panorama.

REFLECT on your burgeoning maturity. The inclination of thought before action, the assertion of belief rather than formula, commitment rather than uncaring, integrity rather than conformity. This too is part of the panorama.

REFLECT on registration—the first day of school—the rush—the lines—the scramble—the disappointment in not getting the course we wanted—the thrill of working your schedule out the way you planned it. There is the unexpected joy of seeing someone you haven't seen since last semester—the chagrin in seeing someone you had hoped not to see. There is the instant of recognition and the moment of panic. There are the courses which must be taken for graduation and the courses that must be retaken—the courses you need and the ones you want.

REFLECT on the changes you have seen—the changes you will see in the future. We welcome progress; it and people go hand in hand. The feeling of expectancy in a new building or a new concept, the feeling of new life. This too is part of the panorama.

REFLECT on the past. The future is ours but the past, too, is ours, for it adds to the future. Our past is our future; it irreducibly builds. This too is part of the panorama.

REFLECT on your friends, your associates, your teachers, your casual acquaintances. All are part and parcel of what you yourself are; all are part of your life, your beliefs, your actions. The teamwork of a club, the joy of talking to each other, the thrill of holding hands or a good-night kiss. The trust we place in others and the trust others put in us to get a job done. The pride in achievement of your friends and their pride in your achievement. This too is part of the panorama.

REFLECT on home. There are the spells of homesickness relieved only by a trip to see your old friends, your family, the family pets. There is the boredom of home after the second day and the desire to get back to the boredom of school where at least you will be bored along with your friends. This too is part of the panorama.

REFLECT on what you will be doing, on what your friends may be doing in the future. There will be graduations, marriages, military service, far-away jobs. Some of your friends you will never see again; some you will be in contact with for the rest of your life. You will remember the well-liked and well-known; you will remember the equally as well-liked but lesser known. You will move away but never grow apart. This too is part of the panorama.

REFLECT on your youth. You are what you are; you are not what you will be nor what you were. You can face disappointment; you can laugh at calamity yet you can cry at the smallest thing and forget it an hour later. You can laugh, dance, sing. You can study all night on Thursday and stay up all night on week-ends. You can feel the disease of youth in your bones yet recover from the ennui of study. This too is part of the panorama.

REFLECT on what you are doing here. The books, so omnipresent, so frightening sometimes. The new ideas, so often alien to us, so often stimulating. The classroom discussions, so often stimulating and so often the only things we recall. What we already know and what we have yet to learn. This too is part of the panorama.

THERE are other reflections—reflections of a physical nature—reflections that lead to an over-all design. The shadows lengthening on the campus. The sunlight glinting against your eyes as a building looms ahead. A casual glance out of a run-away eye. A hurried pace. Oil slicks on puddles. The sudden smile. The bashful grin. The burst of color of autumn trees. All these are transitory; all are ephemeral—all are reflections. Yet they, too, are what help make us what we are—what we hope to be—what we will one day become.

THE long gamut of emotions is a part of every University year. After all, this is a community, a large one. The big difference is that a community populated by teenagers and those who have just, moments past, moved into their majority, is one that, in many ways, is uniquely different. This uniqueness is all tied up in adjustment and the struggle for conformity—or non-conformity. Not only is there the drive to solve the enigma of the future but to satisfy self in the startling and mysterious problems of the present. Many times this dichotomy spawns some most unusual situations. As a result, the patience of those who are charged with the sustaining of normalcy, is drawn rather thin. This is a most unusual community.

LEADERSHIP is an earned role on any campus and the activation of this conferral determines the heart and character of the campus. At the University there are innumerable opportunities for students to "step out from the crowd" and enrich the institution as well as preparing themselves for the larger life beyond the confines of the campus. Probably no other group "delivers the goods" in such quantities and with such regularity as does the ASB. The activities of the overriding student group is intricately interwoven in the fabric of any year. Standing tall in leadership and academic achievement are those who come under the aegis of honoraries, Who's Who, superlatives, and other organized groups designed to highlight distinction.

CABINET

First Row: Jack McBride, ASB Hostess; Beverly Clark, ASB Treasurer; Kay Godawa, Historian; Judy Baukum, ASB Secretary; Alice Marlin, Secretary of Foreign and Transfer Students; Pat Graham, Social Chairman; Martha McDaniel, Speaker of Senate. Second Row: Bill Boner, ASB President; Jerry Baker, President Assistant; Ramon Safley, Secretary of Public Relations; Stan Hardison, Secretary of Student Affairs; Larry Blick, Speaker of House; Jimmy Goad, Secretary of Communication; Bobby Freeman, Chief Justice of Supreme Court; Mike Waggoner, Secretary of Freshman Affairs; Charlie West, Secretary of School Spirit; Frank Fly, Attorney General.

The ASB shares in a Christmas with others.

The Associated Student Body concept of student government was initiated at the University in 1939 during the last years of the teachers college era. Dr. C. C. Sims, head of the Department of History at the time, was the guiding light in formulating the mechanics of the organization. Charlie Miller, now a restaurant supply executive in Texas was elected as the first president.

The ASB, serving as a vehicle for the student voice, grew in importance and service during the years ahead. Many of its leaders have long since transferred their qualities of leadership to eminence in their chosen vocational fields. ASB activities have served as a most significant training base. Latent qualities have blossomed in the crucible of the give-and-take of efforts designed to improve Middle Tennessee State University.

Although the ASB has as its purpose to reflect to the administration the pulse of the student body, action is not taken until a judgmental decision is made as to how suggestions from the students will fit into the mosaic of the entire university. In the past the administration has been most receptive to projects that have been student initiated.

The ASB idea was conceived in order to provide a theoretical as well as an actual base for the practice of democratic principles. The great development of our University owes no small part of its success to successive ASB efforts.

SENATE

The Senate, modeled after larger governmental bodies bearing the same name, provides for ascending representation in the ASB government. The freshmen, although larger numerically, are provided three Senate seats. At the sophomore level, this is increased by one. The junior and senior classes are allocated five seats each. Students are therefore provided a greater voice in Senate affairs as progression is made to higher class levels.

Senate action during the past year has involved several projects designed to improve the student's lot at the University. It contributed its share to re-tooling the cheerleader bill which was passed in conjunction with House of Representative's action. It assisted in a program to provide advance funds for securing Big Name Entertainment. This assistance resulted in one of the best years in "outside" campus entertainment. Also, the Senate assisted in establishing a student body grant for scholarships to become available to those involved in ASB activities.

HOUSE of REPRESENTATIVES

The most significant contribution to the ASB by the House of Representatives was the work of this body on new by-laws for the House and the Constitution. Also, its sponsorship of a campus Bloodmobile first enabled Rutherford County to redeem its lagging quota of available blood at the local hospitals. Its work on the cheerleader bill was a significant accomplishment. This bill greatly improved the procedure of selecting cheerleaders including modifications in qualifications and general mechanics of selection.

The House members spent many hours in preparing for the annual ASB elections and contributing a great number of hours as poll workers. The smoothly operating elections, which culminated one of the most hectic campaigns in ASB, was a tribute to the service rendered by the House.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

The Social Committee has played a most important role in the activities of the student body. It has been responsible for sponsoring all Fun Nights and for selling concessions at the various Big Name Entertainment Shows.

HOSTESS COMMITTEE

The Associated Student Body Hostess Committee has provided the official hostesses for the ASB functions and has represented the student body at several of the faculty-administration teas, etc.

STUDENT AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

The Student Affairs Committee has brought to its accreditation the most successful series of Big Name Entertainment Shows in the history of MTSU. This group of ASB members is also responsible for the distribution of the Gift-Pax.

CORRESPONDENCE COMMITTEE

The Correspondence committee has handled all the secretarial work of the ASB as well as maintaining certain office records. This committee is responsible for framing much of the correspondence to similar student groups in other colleges and universities. Contacts with student-oriented public programs is another task assigned to this working group.

COMMUNICATIONS COMMITTEE

The Communication Committee has been responsible for publication of campus news and events. The major project was that of publishing the ASB Bulletin and filling the campus mail boxes with these each week.

First Row: Larry Huddleston, Pam Owens, Prissy Owens, Helen Stubbs, Maridon McClure, Jim Goad.

FRESHMAN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

The Freshman Affairs Committee is composed of a group of upperclassmen, under the guidance of their Secretary, Mike Waggoner, who work throughout the summer semester to draw up a schedule of activities and events for the purpose of orienting the Freshman to the MTSU campus. These activities include a Freshman Class Picnic, Freshman Mixer, Style and Talent Show, and President's Reception.

First Row: Mike Waggoner, Shot Plum, Jinny Jones, Margaret Duncan, Larry Huddleston.

SUPREME COURT

The Supreme Court is, in many areas, the final authority at MTSU. It is the final authority concerning parking ticket appeals. The Court hears all cases that are appealed from the Dorm Councils. The Supreme Court has been very active this year and has greatly strengthened its position in our student government.

ELECTION COMMISSION

The Election Commission is responsible for all elections that are carried out on the campus. They see that all candidates follow the rules for the student elections.

Selection for membership in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities denotes many things. The students pictured on these pages possess certain distinctive characteristics which have caused them to surpass mediocrity in the pursuit of their goals.

MTSU continually strives to develop the potential abilities and aptitudes of its students and to enrich their social, cultural, and spiritual lives. The students represented in this year's Who's Who have complemented this spirit of the University by their willingness to sacrifice much of their time and energies in order to make outstanding contributions to their individual fields and to their fellow students on this campus. Among those chosen few are students in many academic fields as well as leaders in extracurricular activities such as band student publication staffs, ASB government, theatre productions, and church groups.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI

Alpha Kappa Psi has become one of the University's most distinguished professional clubs. Its primary purposes are to be of service to the University and to arrange a professional program for Business Administration majors and Business Education majors in order to assist in the development of a well-rounded University graduate. The organization began as Alpha Kappa Psi in March of 1965 and, upon receiving its charter in May of 1965 changed its designation to the Zeta Psi chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi. During the span of two years of its organization, Alpha Kappa Psi has become a highly effective group with a rapidly growing membership.

ALPHA MU GAMMA

Delta Rho Chapter of Alpha Mu Gamma, the National Collegiate Honors Fraternity in Foreign Languages, received its charter in May 1966. Its forty-five founding members represented the languages French, German, and Spanish, all of which are taught at Middle Tennessee State.

Alpha Mu Gamma, founded in 1931, has dedicated itself to the furtherance of international relations through the use of foreign languages. Its over 130 chapters devote themselves to this end. In addition to individual chapter activities, National Foreign Language Week, now ten years old, is celebrated nation-wide. Delta Rho Chapter, participated in the observance of National Foreign Language Week, held March 12-18, 1967, through the placing of posters, seminars, and other activities dedicated to the growth of foreign language.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

"Once upon a time . . ." is a nice way to begin a story for it usually traps the reader's interest and the pages are turned without a great deal of effort. However, when grease paint, ingeniously contrived sets, and flesh-and-blood thespians are added, the piece takes on new dimensions. The refining of these make-believe efforts is the task of Alpha Psi Omega. To breach the membership wall, one must have earned a minimum of one hundred hours work in play production and must have demonstrated proficiency in at least three fields of dramatic endeavor. These fields include designing, set construction, managing, directing, costuming, lighting, makeup, or acting.

Derived from this fraternity is the Lambda Gamma Cast which has as its objective that of promoting excellence in the dramatic arts, particularly in the area of acting. Two presentation stations in the beautiful, well-planned Speech and Theatre Building are the large auditorium and the smaller Arena Theatre. In the Arena Theatre, cuttings from established plays are presented while full-scale dramatic productions, requiring more spacious sets, are staged in the acoustically-perfect auditorium. The membership of the Alpha Psi Omega fraternity is involved in all of these productions during the year.

DELTA OMICRON

Now only two years of age, Delta Omicron has become a bright star in the constellation of honorary societies. Its primary activity is in the area of music and it is nationally affiliated with what is designated as the Professional Panhellenic. Membership is open to music majors who have attained a 3.0 average in music courses and a 2.5 in their composite program.

Delta Omicron objectives are to: (1) stimulate appreciation of good music, (2) encourage women composers, and (3) create an interest in music of American composers. Delta Omicron meets monthly and sponsors monthly musicales. It renders services at various departmental programs, participates in the ASB Carnival, and operates refreshment booths at recitals. Mrs. Margaret Wright, queenpin of the famed Sacred Harp Singers, is faculty sponsor.

Delta Omicron is an international music fraternity for women which is affiliated with the Professional Panhellenic. To be eligible for membership, one must be a music major or minor with a 3.0 in music classes and a 2.5 in his composite program.

Omicron Psi, the MTSU chapter, although only two years old, has already received two awards from the Delta Omicron Board of Directors. This is quite an accomplishment considering that this is an organization having chapters as far away as Korea. Some of the activities for this year have been Christmas caroling to the aged, a reception for music alumni at Homecoming, a welcome party for incoming freshmen music students, reading to students on campus, sponsoring the first DO State Day in Tennessee, and rendering various services to the music department.

Mrs. Neil Wright is the faculty advisor, and Mrs. Bob Keathley is the chapter advisor.

DELTA TAU ALPHA

Despite the almost overwhelming emphasis placed on many emerging professions and the re-gilding of older ones, agriculture still remains as the well-spring of American economy. It has evolved from the hit-and-miss era to that of the modern scientific one. Agriculture has now become a business, with modern business practices, rather than the optimistic or pessimistic gamble of yesterday. The agriculture fraternity, Delta Tau Alpha, fits comfortably into this "new look."

Membership requirements are in keeping with the purposes of Delta Tau Alpha. Candidacy is attained by those having completed at least fifteen semester hours in agricultural courses earning an average of "B," at least forty-five semester hours of other University courses earning an average of "C," and receiving a favorable vote of two-thirds of the membership of the chapter.

The purposes of the agricultural honor society are to promote and recognize high standards of scholarship, leadership, and character among agricultural students, to encourage and foster high ethical standards in agriculture and professional positions held by agricultural students, to band together a group of outstanding students who by scholastic accomplishment, service, and upholding high standards have been recognized for these traits and are capable of recognizing these traits in others, and to promote the profession of agriculture.

EPSILON PI TAU

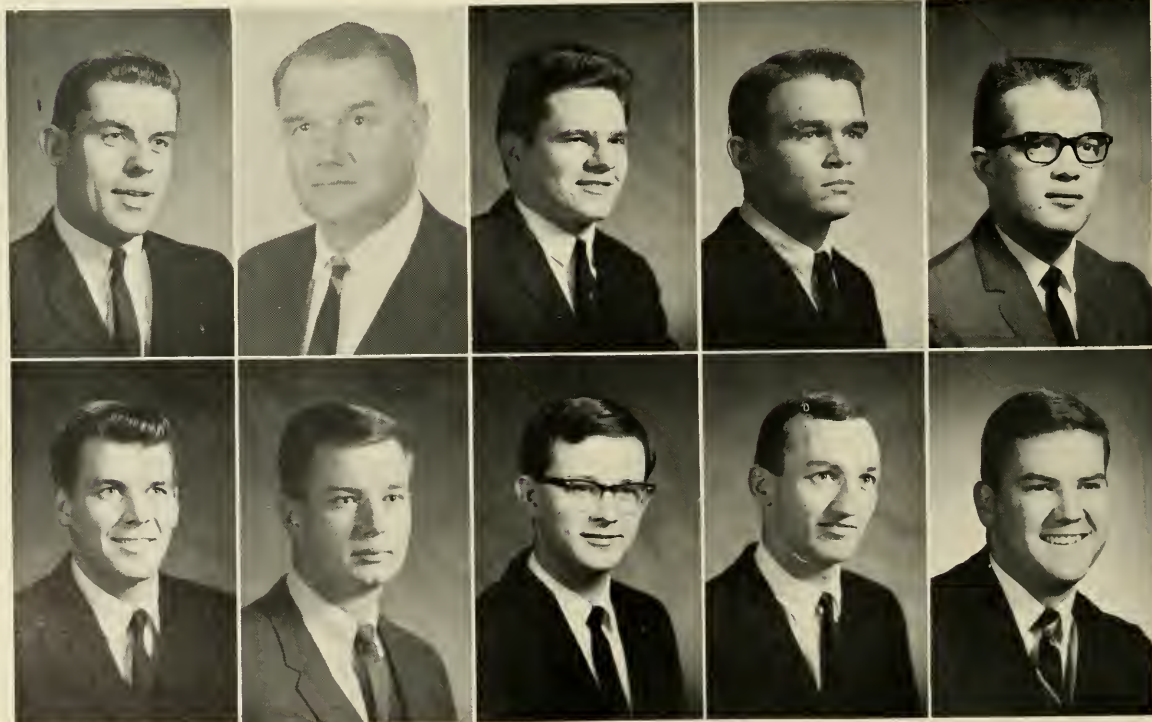

With more and more importance being placed on industrialization in the world today, Epsilon Pi Tau offers to those students in the fields of industrial arts and industrial-vocation education a chance to excel in their skills so that they may be better prepared to meet the needs of the advancing times. Major goals of the fraternity are (1) to recognize the place of skill, (2) to promote social and professional proficiency, and (3) to foster and reward research and to publish and use its results.

The International Honor Fraternity, Epsilon Pi Tau, was founded in 1928 at the Ohio State University by Dr. William E. Warner. Presently there are seventy-four chapters scattered around the globe. Membership is divided among General, Laureate, and Honorary classification. The sponsor of the organization is Mr. O. L. Freeman, an alumnus of Middle Tennessee State University and a member of the University faculty since 1931.

DONALD ROBERT ANDERSON

President

KAPPA DELTA PI

One of the most distinctive honors that can be conferred on education majors is membership in Kappa Delta Pi. Kappa Delta Pi is designed to promote excellence in scholarship, high personal standards, improvement in teacher preparation, distinction in achievement, and contributions to education. Membership is given to juniors, seniors, and graduate students who rank in the upper quintile of their respective classes. Candidates also must have made a commitment to enter some phase of education.

Impressive initiation ceremonies are held in the fall and spring each year.

Candidates subscribe to the induction pledge by candlelight and then each is pinned with the traditional purple and gold ribbon. This ribbon is required to be worn for one week following each of the ceremonies. Each spring, at the conclusion of the initiation ceremony, the annual banquet is held. Outstanding speakers have been obtained for these occasions.

A recognition night for scholarship freshmen and an honor roll for Dean's List students are continuing activities of Theta Omicron, the campus chapter of Kappa Delta Pi. Dr. Homer Pittard is faculty sponsor.

GAMMA BETA PHI

Claiming membership from the student body at large, Gamma Beta Phi was organized during the fall of 1965 under the direction of Dr. Aaron Todd of the Chemistry and Physics Department, who now holds the position of advisor. Its purpose is to serve as a service and as an educational fraternity. The effectiveness of Gamma Beta Phi has been noted by many projects which include assisting with tutoring and registration, and channeling descriptive material about the University to Secondary school students. Membership is open to those in the 2.7 range who are sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Another qualifying point requires that the candidate prepare a brief paper on some aspect and meaning of life. Monthly meetings are held in which the members hear intellectually stimulating programs.

KAPPA OMICRON PI

Efforts to lend further dignity and recognition to home economics led to the formation of Kappa Omicron Pi. The organization is composed of home economics majors who have met the qualifications of high character and ideals, academic achievements, and leadership ability. The fraternity assists in developing the best interests of the majors during their four years at the University.

The Kappa Omicron Phi's program for the year encompassed a wide range of activities. A popular mum sale in the fall, preceding Homecoming, provided revenue for several projects. One of the highlights of the year was the Founders' Day Banquet. Also, in conjunction with other chapters in the national organizations, Kappa Omicron Pi serves as "mother in absentia" to an orphan in the Crossnore School located in North Carolina. Gifts are sent to the child on her birthday, at Christmas, and at other times during the year. The Fraternity's motto is "Prove all things, hold fast to that which is true, and the truth will make you free." Mrs. Lucille Estes is sponsor for the organization.

PHI MU ALPHA

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity of America, organized in 1898, is a professional, music fraternity and has as its fourfold purpose (1) to advance the cause of music in America, (2) to foster the mutual welfare and brotherhood of students of music, (3) to develop the truest fraternal spirit among its members, and (4) to encourage loyalty to the Alma Mater. There are more than 250 chapters of Phi Mu Alpha with more than 50,000 members.

The Omicron Tau Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha was initiated on May 21, 1966 on this campus. There are now 37 active members, 7 alumni members, and 1 honorary member. The chapter has had a busy year sponsoring concerts and recitals, activities for entering freshmen, and tending to the concessions at home football games—just to mention a few.

Officers for Omicron Tau are Dr. Kenneth Pace, Faculty Advisor; Tom Cole, President; Tom Smith, Vice-President; John Bryan, Secretary-Treasurer; Lynn Moore, Historian; Glenn Davis, Warden; and Paul Britt, Executive Alumni Secretary.

LAMBDA TAU

Lambda Tau, an honor society for those intending to study Medical Technology, was organized in the fall of 1966. Upon receiving its charter on February 10, 1967, it became designated as Pi Chapter of the National Lambda Tau Society. Its purposes are: (1) to encourage those in this field to attain the scholastic average necessary to affiliate with this society, (2) to encourage interest in other students in this field, and (3) to provide informative programs on requirements of hospitals that offer training in this field. The programs are open to members and visitors.

Membership is open to students who are intending to study the field of Medical Technology. They must have a 2.78 average and two semesters of college credit. (Provisional members will be eligible if they have one semester of college work completed and the required average. They will be eligible for active membership after two semesters' work.) The sponsor is Dr. A. E. Woods of the Chemistry Department.

BETA BETA BETA

The Kappa Delta Chapter of the National Beta Beta Beta Biological Society was organized in the fall semester of 1966 under the leadership of Dr. Mary C. Dunn and Mr. Mitchell D. Hoyle, both of the Biology Department.

Beta Beta Beta is an honor society for students of the biological sciences, and strives to attain a three-fold program: to stimulate sound scholarship; to promote the dissemination of scientific truth; and to encourage investigation in the life sciences.

Members for the society are chosen from biology majors who have a 3.0 average in the field of biology and have a 2.7 average overall. Graduate students, who meet undergraduate qualifications, and all faculty members are also allowed membership.

First Row: Janice Dimmock, Mary C. Dunn, Sponsor; Larry Gilliam, Mitchell Hoyle, Charles Jarrett, Jr., Paul Landers. Second Row: J. G. Parchment, Sponsor; Katherine Rogers, Judith

PI GAMMA MU

The primary emphasis of Pi Gamma Mu is to stimulate interest in the social studies. Specifically, it (1) strives to improve scholarship in the social studies, (2) attempts to inspire an intelligent approach to the solution of social problems, and (3) attempts to establish better understanding among groups of varying opinions and philosophies. Candidacy is attained by those having twenty or more hours in the social sciences with a B average and no unsatisfactory grades. Pi Gamma Mu meets monthly. Among its activities are included one dinner meeting or party each semester, co-sponsoring of outstanding speakers, and two initiations annually.

In a world that is beset with quixotic attempts to solve social problems, the ideals establishing Pi Gamma Mu appear to be very appropriate. Since the meetings provide occasions for "trying out" ideas and philosophies in a more unrestricted atmosphere than that found in the classroom, the organization can add much to the social science majors perspective and development. Dr. Roscoe Strickland is sponsor of the group.

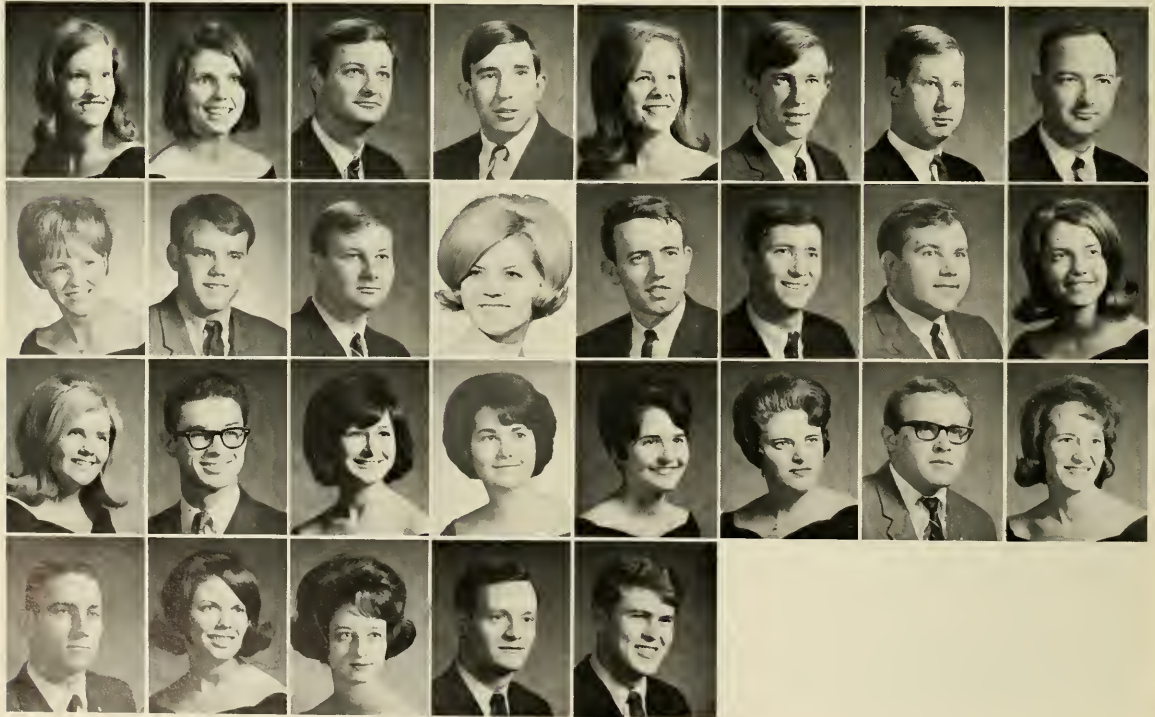

This year Pi Gamma Mu, in conjunction with the Socraties, began a "Freshman Help" program to aid freshmen with registration and familiarization with our campus.

PI OMEGA PI

The motto, "Loyalty, Service, and Progress," is the banner cry for Pi Omega Pi, one of the most active organizations on the University campus. Among its activities are included contributions to a scholarship fund, a typewriting contest for area high school students, publishing a monthly departmental newspaper, a social outing, annual banquet, and a Christmas project. The Yuletide project provides food, clothing, and toys for a needy family.

Pi Omega Pi, as a national organization, was established in 1923 but has since changed its designation to National Business Education Honor Society. In 1965, it became recognized as a member of the Associations of College Honor Societies. The University chapter has consistently held representation in the national organization.

A student meeting the necessary qualifications in the National Business Education Honor Society must be in the upper thirty-five per cent of his class and must be enrolled in the Business Education program. Sponsor for Pi Omega Pi is Mrs. Henrietta Wade.

SIGMA CLUB

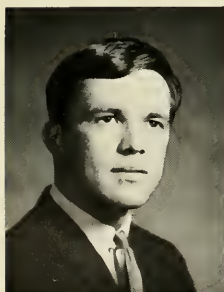

The Sigma Club, organized in 1927, grew out of the Research Club of Middle Tennessee State Teachers College. It is one of the oldest, if not the oldest, clubs on the campus. Membership in the club is a distinctive honor for junior and senior men. The administration of the organization points out that "the organization incorporates in its requirements for membership all of the qualities of personality and intellect which the University has sought to use as a standard since its founding many years ago."

The Sigma Club meets monthly on the second Monday evening. Initiations, fall and spring, are the most unique of any other organization of the campus. Many former Sigma members return as speakers and as participants in the initiation ceremonies. Members are selected on the basis of academic achievement, leadership ability, and on contributions which they have made to the University as students. The organization emphasizes in its activities an ascendancy of the intellectual and spiritual as opposed to the physical and material. Dr. Gerald Parchment and Mr. Clayton James are the co-sponsors.

TAU OMICRON

Those junior and senior women of Middle Tennessee State University holding membership in Tau Omicron must certainly be described as being among the exceptional and comprising the ranks of feminine leadership on campus.

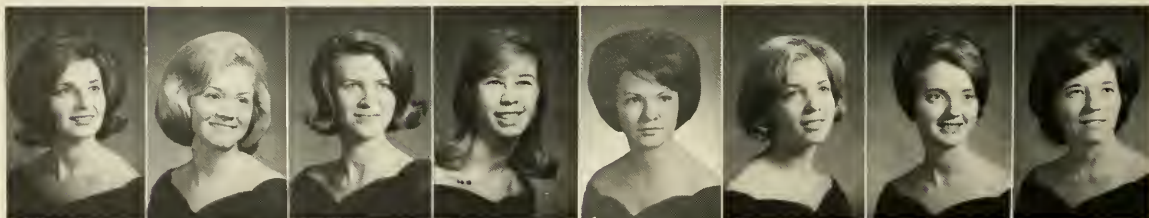

The purposes of this organization are to bring into closer fellowship a group of the highest character of girls for mutual help, both to each other and their Alma Mater; to promote scholarship; and to uphold the standards and ideals of this institution of learning. Tau Omicron was established in the fall of 1930.

Initiations are held twice each year in addition to a fall and spring luncheon. Alumni members of Tau Omicron are invited to attend the luncheon. Among Tau Omicron's student aide program is a tutoring service which is open to all seeking help.

PI SIGMA EPSILON

On December 11, 1965, only two years ago Pi Sigma Epsilon was organized; and has, since its foundation, been reputed to be an active and well represented group of students in sales and marketing. Its purposes are (1) to promote studies in the fields of sales and marketing, (2) to bring into a closer association business leaders and University students, (3) to create a collegiate brotherhood in the areas of sales and marketing, and (4) to improve ethical standards in these areas.

Indeed, the membership is quite diversified with twenty-two students and six faculty members, there are several area businessmen who are bonafide members. We have several projects in conjunction with university and off campus representation. Billy Balch is sponsor of the fraternity.

MTSU ACCOUNTING SOCIETY

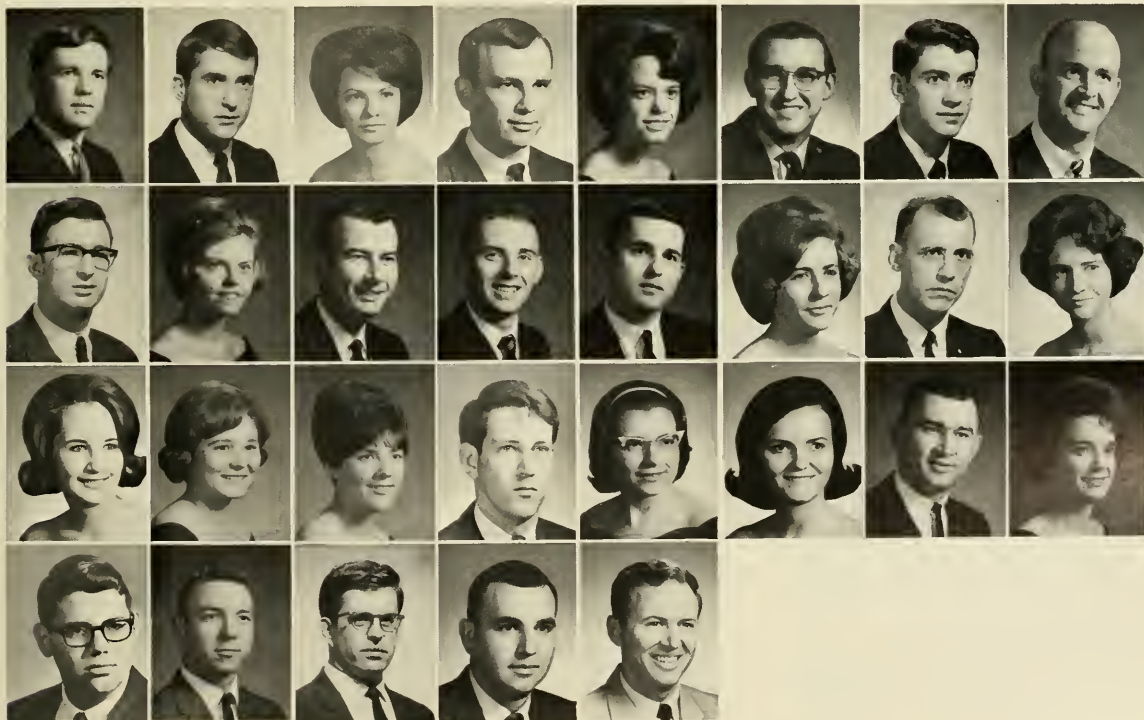

EDDIE GARDNER
President

In February of this year the MTSU Accounting Society celebrated its first anniversary. Certainly, in one year this fine young organization has done well in establishing a distinguished reputation. Mr. Walter Chatman is the sponsor. The Society underlines the vast new world of accounting created by an expanding economy and spiraling pattern of business. It shall undertake as its prime aim the furthering of interest and the furthering of prestige to the rapidly growing profession of accounting. In maintaining the achievements of this commendable aspiration the Accounting Society administers each year the Joe Dearman Memorial Accounting Award. The recipient is chosen by his leadership and impressionable work in the accounting field. It is this honored senior who receives the reward memorializing Mr. Joe Dearman, who before his death in 1965 was an ardent supporter of MTSU's Accounting Department.

"AGE cannot dim her beauty, nor time her infinite variety" speaks eloquently of Cleopatra and could refer to our campus lasses—at least, in a way. On no other campus, that we know about, is there such an abundance of attractive distaffers. Visitors observe this and are kind enough to pass this sentiment along to anyone who will listen. Students say so, particularly the male of the species. This explains why there are so many window-display moments during the year. We refer to those pageants and all of the other occasions when competition for beauty acclaim is a stage production focal point. Our young ladies would do credit to Cleopatra and they're much younger, too.

A UNIVERSITY year is one filled with so many activities that recall is impossible. Somehow a mosaic is developed but its pieces are so varied that identification is largely left to the groups or individuals involved. This is the way it should be for collegiate life is an individual thing as well as a group consideration. There's the weekly newspaper which, within itself, is a running current history, and there's the yearbook which attempts to recapitulate the high points of a year past. There, of course, then are the plays and the sound of music, the heartaches and the joys. There's no end. A University year is a year gained in experience but a year lost in life's persistent cycle.

Labor on the yearbook is a chore, not half bad, that stretches from the wee beginnings of the summer grind to the Ides of March. Each edition carries over four hundred pictures, exclusive of the class sections. Copy must be written, and something relevant in the form of a cut line must be tagged to most of the pictures. Based on Kelly's Law, some of the most crucial events are inadvertently omitted. Occasionally, the doctoral degree is conferred on unsuspecting faculty members. Conversely, some degrees are withdrawn by the slip of a typewriter key. Kelly's Law also obscures poor grammar and misspelling in the manuscript and projects like neon on expensive, enamel-based paper.

But cheerfully, the yearbook staff strives with honesty to portray a year's history of the University in pictures and in copy. It is, without argument, a time-consuming process. Errors will be made but it is the hope of the staff that the good will overshadow the bad, the chinks in the wall. Also, it is the hope that in the years to come, these pages will revive some of the memories of a most pleasant and rewarding era.

SIDELINES

Studying the makings of a good story are Pam Owen, Make-up Editor; Cheryl Allen, Spring Editor; David Mathis, Business Manager; and Mr. Gene Sloan, Sidelines Advisor.

This year the Sidelines has undertaken to expand itself both physically and qualitatively. The once sporadic weekly twelve-page editions have become standard. The staff has greatly increased in size and efficiency, and student interest in the Sidelines has been gradually mounting.

Characteristic of the progress which has been made in the Sidelines are the innovations in printing such as: new and varied headline types, and a catchy new name plate.

One step which has been taken to improve the publications set-up on our campus is the recent addition to the Publications Committee of the Sidelines and MIDLANDER editors and the ASB President. Also, out of a series of student-faculty meetings in this committee has come a set of written guidelines to aid future editors.

The Sidelines has a long way to go before it can truly claim to be "the voice of the university", but progress is being made in the right direction. As the school grows, so must the newspaper. This is our goal—to keep pace both with the rapid expansion of the university and the growing awareness of the student body.

Errors in the copy can be fun—at least the news staff thinks so. Observing the errors are Susan Steelman, Sharlena Philips, and Bill Peters, News Editor.

Members of the Exchange Staff go through the task of preparing the papers for their journey to other schools. Members are Carolyn Moyers, Exchange Co-Editor; Diane Coker, and Gayle McLain, Exchange Co-Editors.

Tony Pendergrass, Fall Editor, looks over a head style sheet in preparation for an upcoming edition.

FEATURE TWIRLERS—Mary Alice Smythe, Frankie Baskin. MAJORETTES—Pam Hart, Michelle Phillips, Lynn Crowder, Faye Minatra, Maridon McClure, Head Majorette.

The "Band of Blue" is a unique campus organization at Middle Tennessee State University. Its uniqueness is found in the traits of originality and versatility of the musical group. The band is composed of students who are majoring in music as well as of students majoring in other fields offered at the University. Almost half of the band members participate as non-credited performers, and many are outstanding leaders in other campus activities. Many students believe the band to be the most united organization on campus as a result of its tri-weekly rehearsals and on-and-off campus performances.

The Director of the Marching Band is Joseph Smith; the Director of the Concert Band is Horace Beasley. Actually, both work with the band throughout the year.

The "Band of Blue" performs at all home football games and at a few on foreign fields. The precision in the execution of the many intricate formations reflects the hours of practice on the field to the east of the stadium. After marching season the band begins its concert preparation. The band presents four concerts while on tour and three on-campus concerts during the spring semester. The Concert Band plays music of the best quality that challenges the players and interests the audiences.

BAND ACTIVITIES

UNIVERSITY-COMMUNITY ORCHESTRA

The University-Community Orchestra serves the students and community in unique ways. Through the orchestra activities students are able to play the greatest music of all time. Student players are afforded the opportunity to sit with faculty players and persons from the community in this musical organization. Standard works of the orchestral literature are programmed for the concerts and many other works are read and studied.

Through the concerts of the orchestra, the community may participate in hearing live music through the medium of the symphony orchestra. Some of the works performed this year are shown on this page. Laurence Harvin is concertmaster of the orchestra. This musical is conducted by Mr. T. Earl Hinton.

SACRED HARP SINGERS

It was during the summer of 1947 that the Sacred Harp Singers came into being. Composed of eleven talented singers, the group sings a capella seated around a table. This is reminiscent of Sixteenth Century madrigal style. The repertoire consists of early English madrigals and folk songs, Sacred Harp hymns and white spirituals, and southern folk songs and ballads. The group is well known throughout the Southern states for its numerous concert appearances and broadcast programs. Each year the Singers go on the concert trail and visit many of the high schools in the region.

The University Sacred Harp Singers represent a rarity in university music groups. The campus unit is probably the only one of its kind in the United States. They are in great demand for special public appearances throughout the South.

TREBLE CHORALE

Under the leadership of Harold Slagle, the Treble Chorale, newest choral organization of the Music Department, continues to grow. It has increased from approximately thirty members, two years ago, to almost fifty young women at present. The Chorale presents musical literature from both serious and popular composers. Many selections are arrangements by members of the Chorale. Performances include local clubs, school functions, formal concerts and tours to near-by high schools. Since its beginning, Mrs. Mary D. Scott has accompanied the Treble Chorale; however, this is Mr. Slagle's first year in his present capacity. Both are members of the music faculty. Membership in this group may be gained at any female interested in singing. Auditions are held at the beginning of each semester.

CONCERT CHOIR

One of the finest showpieces for the Music Department and the University, as well, is the talented Concert Choir. During the year it presented two concerts on the campus. Also, it was featured in two programs in area high schools. Composed of some eighty members, the Choir is under the able direction of Mr. Neil Wright. This unit has served in an excellent recruiting capacity. In addition, it provides opportunities for the general public to appreciate the quality of instruction at the University. Its members are chosen from try-outs only.

These days, art is where you find it. Sometimes it proves to be in the most unsuspecting places. Those of us who have cut our artistic teeth on standard works and near-copyists have been introduced to a revolutionary new world. Our finely-tuned dramatic activities have brought new dimensions to theatre art at the University. Some of the productions edge close to professionalism and could compare favorable with several off-Broadway efforts.

Truly, arts and crafts lend a little more glamor to the furtive term, "University".

MUSICALS

The Department of Music, housed in the first and second floors of the Fine Arts Building, is active in expanding the cultural activities of the campus. Headed by Neil Wright, its organizations and performing groups have achieved national recognition over the years and this year was no different. The "Band of Blue" was seen at the half-time of the Raider football games, and is nationally famous for its intricate precision drill routines devised by Joseph T. Smith, the marching band director. The concert band, which tours the area high schools and presents a total of three concerts in the spring, is directed by Horace Beasley. One of the band's more interesting events is the yearly "Starlight" concert, given in the spring on the Fine Arts Lawn. The choral activities are varied, with one of the major events being the Concert Choir tour to Chattanooga to perform for the area schools there. The Varsity Choir presented Die Fledermaus, an opera by J. Strauss, and later in the year, Mozart's Mass in C. All of the organizations are open to college students on a try-out basis. The College-Community Orchestra is directed by Earl Hinton, and is dedicated to the performance of the best in orchestral literature. The Orchestra gives two concerts a year, with the aid of string performers from the Nashville Symphony, and performs for the June convocation. The Sacred Harp Singers, an eleven member group directed by Mrs. Neil Wright, are dedicated to the performance of Sacred Harp, Madrigals, and Folk music. They toured the West Tennessee area and Mississippi and do much to spread the good name of MTSU. The Ensemble program, under the direction of Dr. Kenneth Pace, has woodwind and brass performing groups. They perform the quality literature for the medium, and perform for civic groups and in concert regularly.

DRAMA

The superb facilities of the Theatre Arts Building have enabled drama to reach its full potential. In the spacious, acoustically treated proscenium, large full-scale productions are staged to capacity audiences. The presentations in the Arena Theatre are more intimate and close rapport is established with the spectators. So popular have the Arena productions become that it is an impossibility to accommodate the crowds —even in a five-night run.

The drama season opened with the rousing "Mad Woman of Chaillot." This was followed by the opera, "Die Fledermaus," produced in conjunction with the Music Department. "Light up the Sky" was a popular Arena Theatre offering in late winter. "Antigone" closed the season for dramatic activities.

“BEWARE of Greeks bearing gifts” does not exactly apply to the brand new fraternity and sorority system that has so recently bloomed on the campus. The very soul of the system is based primarily on service and socialization. The Greeks are now in the process of effecting complete organization and many of the students believe that our institution has taken another giant step toward giving meaning to the “university.” The nativity of fraternities and sororities occurred last October when ten organizations (five each for men and women) came into being. For the next three years, these groups will rest somewhat apprehensively under the “Damocles sword.” This is the proving period.

LAMBDA PSI FRATERNITY

Lambda Psi is a leader in fraternity life at MTSU. It was the first fraternity on campus to publish a weekly newspaper and award a semester's tuition to the best pledge each semester.

Lambda Psi is a young, dynamic fraternity which was founded by five young men on October 1, 1966. These five men wanted a fraternity which would enrich them socially, scholastically, and build strong character.

Our brotherhood has its share of campus leaders. Paul Womack and Fred Woody are members of the Sigma Club. Paul is also a member of Pi Gamma Mu, the Debating Team, and was a freshman and sophomore class Senator. Bob Hardison, Jim Dickson, and Jim Gaines are members of Circle K. Bob is also the Brigade Commander of the ROTC department and was the President of his sophomore class. Gary Goff is secretary-treasurer of the Sam Davis Drill Team. Jim Gaines is a cheerleader, sports editor of the Sidelines, and Junior Class treasurer. Jack Welch is the executive chairman of the Student Sociological Society and Larry Wilson is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi.

Lambda Psi participated in the many activities on campus this year. We donated funds to the Senior Class so that Dr. Feelgood and the Interns could appear at the Homecoming Dance. In intramural volleyball, Lambda Psi finished second and had an admirable record in other sports. At Christmas we supplied a needy family in the Murfreesboro area with food and clothing. Lambda Psi finished first in the Campus-wide Blood Drive by giving the most pints of blood. Lambda Psi also took an active part in various civic activities. Funds were collected for the Heart Fund and the Cerebral Palsy Drive. The brothers showed their civic spirit as each man ran a one-mile leg to carry the cerebral Palsy donations from Murfreesboro to WSM-TV studio in Nashville. The final project of the first years' activities was painting the stadium seats in Jones Field. The highlight of the year for the men of Lambda Psi was the annual Red Rose Sweetheart Ball.

The sweetheart of Lambda Psi is Miss Anita Wells, a Delta Pi Delta from Nashville, Tennessee. Advisors are Mr. Conway of the Sociology department and Mr. Chrisman of the History department.

A few of the brothers gather around while collecting money for the Cerebral Palsy.

Phi Epsilon Fraternity, pioneers of fraternities on the MTSU campus, was founded as an off campus fraternity in 1961. It was founded by thirteen students who met together to bring to the campus of MTSU the fraternities that they thought were needed.

The Founders of the fraternity then had no way of knowing the impact their years of efforts would have upon the lives of students at MTSU in the years to come. They had no way of foreseeing the extent to which this fraternity would become a living example for the fraternities yet unborn.

The future of Phi Epsilon is an intangible thing. It is not a record of its outstanding past accomplishments, it is only the summation of hopes for tomorrow; it is not the concrete progress that lies behind, it is the dreams that lie ahead. One does not have to look far to find hope for the future of Phi Epsilon. Much of it is beyond the hoping and dreaming stages, much of the future is already taking shape. It's taking shape in Phi Ep's new fraternity house, in its outstanding pledges, and its active alumni association.

The future of Phi Epsilon is not only around us, but it is in each member, in their personal goals, and in the potential for the future. The Phi Epsilon we know today has been our dreams, and the results of our dreams. The Phi Epsilon that generations yet unborn will know will be the results of our dreams and our thinking. And so as we end our sixth year, Phi Epsilons' pledge is always to think big, aim high, and plan well, thus we will project ourselves, and help to project our University into the 1967-68 school year of which we can all be proud.

SIGMA TAU OMEGA FRATERNITY

Sigma Tau Omega Fraternity is a brotherhood comprised of men from all phases of campus activities. S.T.O. fraternity provides opportunities for students to better their school, their community, and themselves.

Sigma Tau Omega places emphasis on three areas of campus life. Academics are stressed by S.T.O. A high average must be maintained by members and awards are presented for scholarships by brothers.

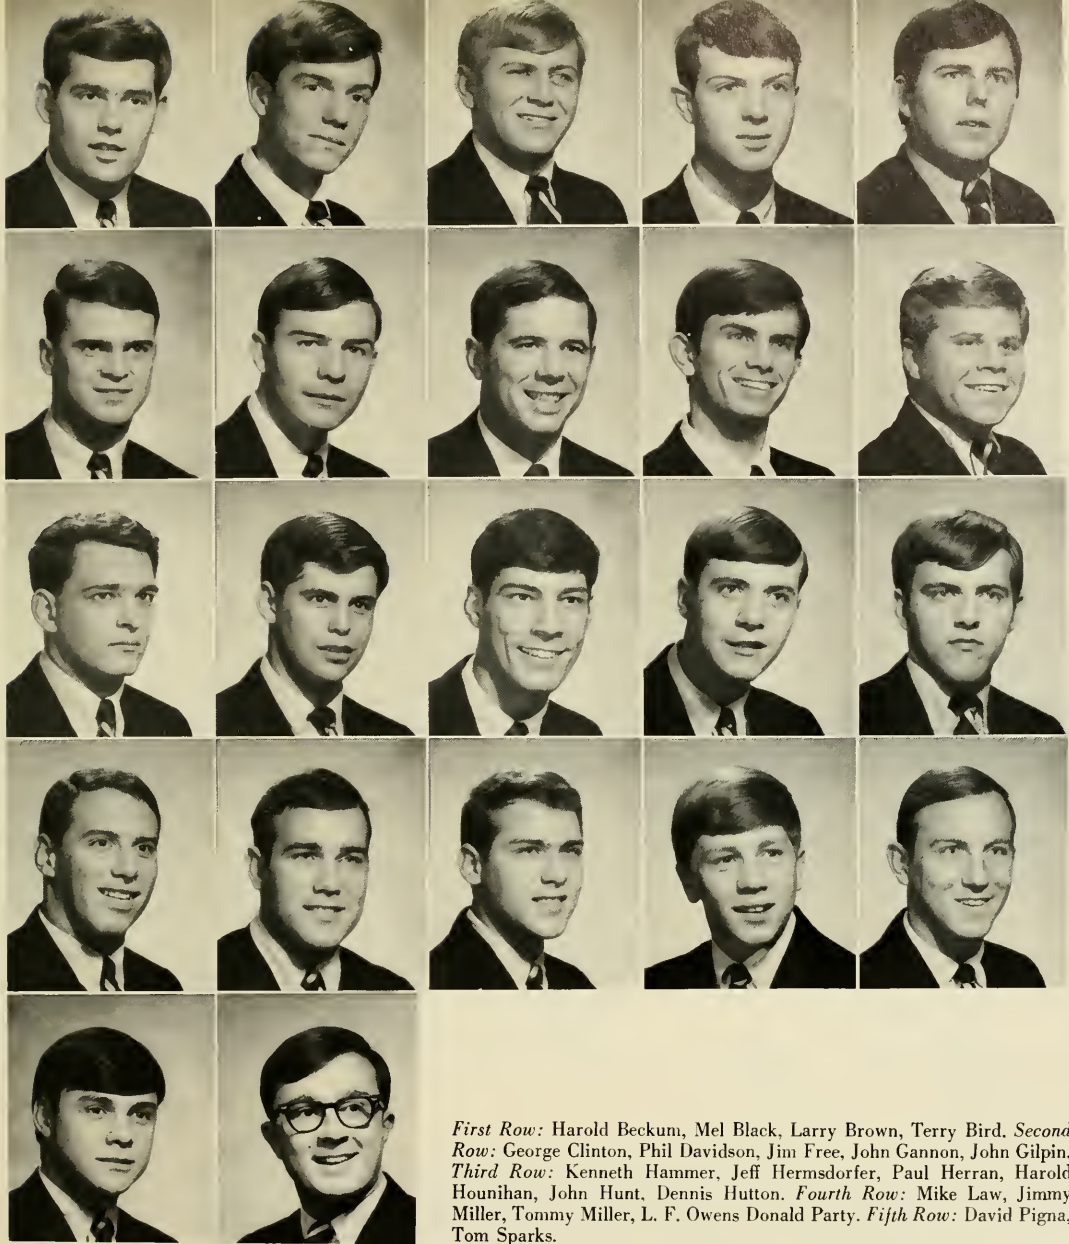

Bettering the school and community around it is another goal of Sigma Tau Omega. Community projects are required by the Constitution of S.T.O. Projects this year ranged from conducting the Mental Health Drive to singing Christmas Carols at the girl's dormitories.

One of the most important functions of Sigma Tau Omega is providing constructive campus activities for its brothers. Football and basketball intramurals make up only a part of the athletics participated in by S.T.O. Members also participate in work sessions and enjoy fraternity-sponsored social functions. The fraternity provides opportunities for its members to both work and play.

Sigma Tau Omega was founded January 13, 1966, by a group of young men who felt that they and their school could benefit from such an organization. Since that time they have sought ways to help in all facets of school life. On April 17, 1967, Sigma Tau Omega celebrated Founders day and marked over a year of service to its brothers and MTSU.

SIGMA DELTA ZETA FRATERNITY

Sigma Delta Zeta Fraternity was organized in October 1966 by a group of young men who wished to develop the close friendship on a college campus that can only be found in a fraternity.

The twenty charter members after completion of their constitution sought to develop fraternal friendship on a social basis. There were combo parties, and other informal gatherings. Picnics and dinners were also a part of this new undertaking. Participation in the homecoming dance and the ASB's party for underprivileged children left a feeling of fulfillment in being able to help others. This was our year of opening up new horizons, our first service projects, our first Stunt Night, our first winning basketball team, our first sweetheart, and our first pledge class.

A jovial group of young men that can feel true friendship with one another, a group that knows you can count on another individual in time of need. A group that has an out going heart and offers to help others. That is Sigma Delta Zeta.

ALPHA GAMMA PHI SORORITY

Alpha Gamma Phi Sorority had its beginning as the Women's Service Club. It was organized in November of 1966 as a sorority and gained universally and ASB recognition in January of 1967. The sponsor is Mrs. Anne Ferris.

It might be said that the real business of any sorority is "to build character, to stimulate high endeavor, to develop leadership, to promote unselfish cooperation, to create the friendly spirit in all human relationships" by teaching the art of friendship in a small group. From this basic understanding, Alpha Gamma Phi strives to develop the best that is in each member and to successfully contribute to sorority life.

The members of Alpha Gamma Phi find many activities at MTSU to supplement their scholastic program and their own interests. The women in Alpha Gamma Phi are urged to participate in many campus organizations and activities. So that each may become a more vital person through her interest in mutual enterprise. Her experiences will develop her talents, broaden her capabilities, and add versatility to the sorority as a whole.

DELTA PHI GAMMA SORORITY

The Delta Phi Gamma Social Sorority was organized on October 12 1966, at Middle Tennessee State University. The Sorority was organized under the provisions stated by the administration with Carolyn Chambers of Gallatin as president, and Mrs. Molly Chambers of the Physical Education Department as faculty advisor.

Delta Phi Gamma was organized with twenty-one charter members. Since its founding, the sisters have worked hard to make their organization an asset to MTSU. In November, the members exhibited the blue daisy in a gaily decorated car for the homecoming parade. In December, Delta Phi Gamma, in the spirit of the Christmas season, participated in the ASB Christmas party for underprivileged children. They also played hostess to the other MTSU sororities at a Christmas tea.

With their eyes ever on public and community service, Delta Phi Gamma Sisters work with the Headstart Program, the Murfreesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Murfreesboro Kiwanis Club in striving to improve our community, our state, and our nation.

Delta Phi Gamma is proud of its members and their accomplishments and seeks to improve the ideals and standards of its sisterhood as well as those of our school.

Rush preparations???

DELTA PI DELTA SORORITY

Delta Pi Delta Sorority was organized on October 3, 1966, by her eighteen charter members. Dr. Mary Tom Berry of the Education Department serves as sorority sponsor. The sorority was begun with a purpose in mind. This purpose is to promote a Christian attitude, a benevolent outlook, a lasting sisterhood, a higher scholastic achievement, a social well-being, and an appreciation of life as evidenced by our deeds.

The sisters of Delta Pi Delta began working toward the fulfillment of their purpose by taking the children of the Good Shepherds Orphans Home "trick-or-treating" on Halloween. The sorority has worked with the ASB in its Christmas project and the Blood Mobile; and has participated in such civic and charity functions as explaining the use of voting machines, collecting for the Heart Fund, and each week providing refreshments for a party for patients of the VA Hospital. Every two weeks the sorority holds a sisterhood function. All that this sorority does is not designed to mold its sisters into uniform conformity, but strength of Delta Pi Delta is not in many who are alike; it is in many who are different, but who share a common goal to be achieved through a bond of sisterhood.

Delta Pi Delta is proud of her representation by her sisters in all facets of our university life, and she is proud of her first pledge class of twenty three young women. Delta Pi Delta has become a recognized organization and, hopefully, a respected asset of MTSU.

Kappa Tau Delta Sorority was established on the campus of Middle Tennessee State University in 1966. Dr. Marsha Zewier, Professor of Psychology on this campus, serves as the sponsor. Kappa Tau Delta was very active during homecoming. Although the sorority had no float in the parade, the girls worked on many others helping to prepare them for the homecoming festivities. Kappa Tau Delta was very fortunate to have Jenny Jones elected homecoming attendant for 1966. Another outstanding member of the sorority this year was Becky Ullom. Becky served as Sophomore Class beauty and sweetheart for Sigma Tau Omega Fraternity. Represented Kappa Tau Delta in the Miss Midlander Pageant this year was Gerri Carlisle.

Kappa Tau Delta enjoyed very much sharing Christmas with two wonderful little girls from the Good Shepherd Orphan Home at the annual Christmas party sponsored by the ASB. The last and most significant event of the school year for Kappa Tau Delta is its formal presentation in May. At this time the new members having completed pledge training and initiation are presented with the other members.

PHI THETA PSI

Phi Theta Psi was formed on October 2, 1966, by an excited group of young college women eager to serve their school and community.

Since their beginning the Phi Thetas have been very active in various civic projects. At Halloween these girls sold candy to aid the mentally retarded children of Rutherford County. They also helped in the annual UNICEF drive of Murfreesboro. Phi Thetas gave the children at the Good Shepherd's Home a Christmas party and contributed to the campus-wide Christmas party for the children sponsored by the ASB.

Phi Theta Psi has given many hours in helping the ASB in various ways, such as making signs for "big-name" shows and collecting money for the cheerleaders.

The girls of Phi Theta Psi have proven themselves to be an asset to the MTSU campus and have established an outstanding record of service and achievement.

WITH the numerical and physical growth of Middle Tennessee State University, there has been a continuing upsurge in intercollegiate athletics. Of course, football has been the campus kingpin for the past twenty years. Now, breaking through into the limelight is basketball. The roundballers still lose more games than are won but the performances, nevertheless, are harbingers of better things to come. Definitely, the winning complex is emerging. Golf has attained nationwide recognition. Tennis has had a new birth due primarily to the phenomenal recruiting talents of the coach. Track and baseball compare most favorably with other regional combines. The athletic program has the ring of a true university.

THE 1966 FOOTBALL SEASON . . .

The 1966 edition of the Raiders returned with twenty-six lettermen from the 1965 squad which saw only five graduating seniors. Despite the fact that these five were key personnel, including Teddy Morris and Keith Atchley, another great season was anticipated. Although the Raiders did not again go undefeated, Coach Murphy's stalwart men had a very fine 7-3 season and were 4-2 in conference play.

This was Coach Charles "Bubba" Murphy's twentieth year at the University. At the conclusion of the 1966 season, his two-decade record was 148 victories, 50 defeats, and 8 ties—one of the finest in the country. The Raiders were second in Ohio Valley Conference in 1966 and have not placed lower than second since 1954. The past season saw many close and exciting games. The University Eleven, for most of the year, was ranked high nationally in the top ten of small college polls only to plummet after some close late season losses.

Again, MTSU was well represented on the mythical All OVC team. Chosen on the offensive team was Bob Hlodan. On the defensive team were Steve Edging, Frank Victory, Larry Dotson, and George Claxton. Named to the second team were Mike Jones, Larry Matthews, Bobby Langford, and Herbert Owensby.

Team leaders were Larry Dotson and Bill Robertson. Their inspired play and leadership were prime factors in the success of the season. This year marked the first time that OVC games were televised. The Austin Peay and Murray games were both beamed from Horace Jones Field, making it very apparent that Raider athletics are growing in favor in the region.

Raiders Win Seesaw Opener, 14-12

The mighty Goshawks from Pensacola provided Raider opposition for the 1966 opener on Horace Jones Field. The traumatic sixty minutes, with the Murphy men scratching out a 14-12 win, had all of the elements of a 1965 season replay. The Raiders scored first but thereafter it was give-and-take in touchdowns until a late game interception by Steve Edging allowed the clock to run out. Quarterback Billy Walker connected on 14 of 23 passes for a total of 118 yards.

Touchdowns were scored by Larry Matthews and Herbert Owenby. The difference in the scoreboard was attributed to place-kicker Paul Barnett who split the uprights twice in tries after touchdowns.

The Blue Raiders, gunning for their sixteenth straight victory, went to Martin to take on U.T.M.B. The Baby Vols, playing their usual inspired game against the Raiders, continually threatened the Raider goal line. However, key interceptions by Steve Edging, George Claxton, and Bill Robertson killed the Vols hopes of victory. Larry Matthews bulled for the Raiders' only touchdown, while Paul Barnett added the extra point and a field goal. Bob Hlodan ran well and caught six passes. Herbert Owenby caught five of Billy Walker's passes and Matthews rushed for 30 yards in 16 carries.

Weirdo Won At Western

"It was a weird game in which Western Kentucky controlled the ball for 31 plays to only 46 for the Raiders," was the sports-writer's language assessing MTSU's first away-from-home game. The "weirdness" went right along with the score, for the Raiders won, 33-9. The Hilltoppers scored first, but visions of a major upset soon vanished. Passes from Walker to Owenby, a plunge by Matthews, and the extra point by Barnett tied the score. This was followed by a dazzling 75 yard score by Edging, one by Owensby, and two more by Hlodan. The devastating Raider line play contributed to the "turning of the tide."

The home game against Eastern Kentucky was billed as the "Game of the Year." This was no overstatement as both the Raiders and the Maroons came into the game undefeated. Prognosticators were saying that the OVC champion would emerge from this game. During the early part of the wild night, the Raiders scored first from a fumble recovery by Mike Jones and a short plunge by Walker. From this point, a seesaw battle developed, with Eastern, then the Raiders, then Eastern, and finally the Raiders ahead on the scoreboard, 22-20. With 1:37 remaining in the fourth quarter, the now famous "flea flicker" was executed. Walker passed to end Caplenor who quickly lateralled to Hlodan who stormed across the goal line.

Fumbles, Slush, Rain Too Much,

The Raiders, ranked third among the nation's small colleges, travelled to Chattanooga's Chamberlain Field with visions of an undefeated "dancing in their heads." But a miserable night, both performance-wise and climatically, brought the stark realism of defeat for the first time in 19 games. After the first few scrimmage plays in the mud, rain, and slush, it was impossible to identify Raider from Moc—or official. Quarterback Walker frequently threw to enemy defenders and vice versa—but not enough vice versa to balance things. Chattanooga scored on a wild, side-winding field goal and on a safety to make the score 5-0.

MTSU grabbed the lead in the OVC as a result of their 20-7 victory over Morehead. The game was highlighted by the running of Larry Matthews and the passing of Billy Walker. The Raiders scored first on a 20 yard pass from Walker to Owenby in the first quarter. The Eagles matched the Raiders' seven by scoring in the second quarter. The second half was all MTSU as Matthews, McCamish, and Walker sparkled offensively. Mike Matheny returned an Eagle pass as did co-captain Larry Dotson, who returned it 41 yards.

Raiders Lose OVC Lead, 7-13

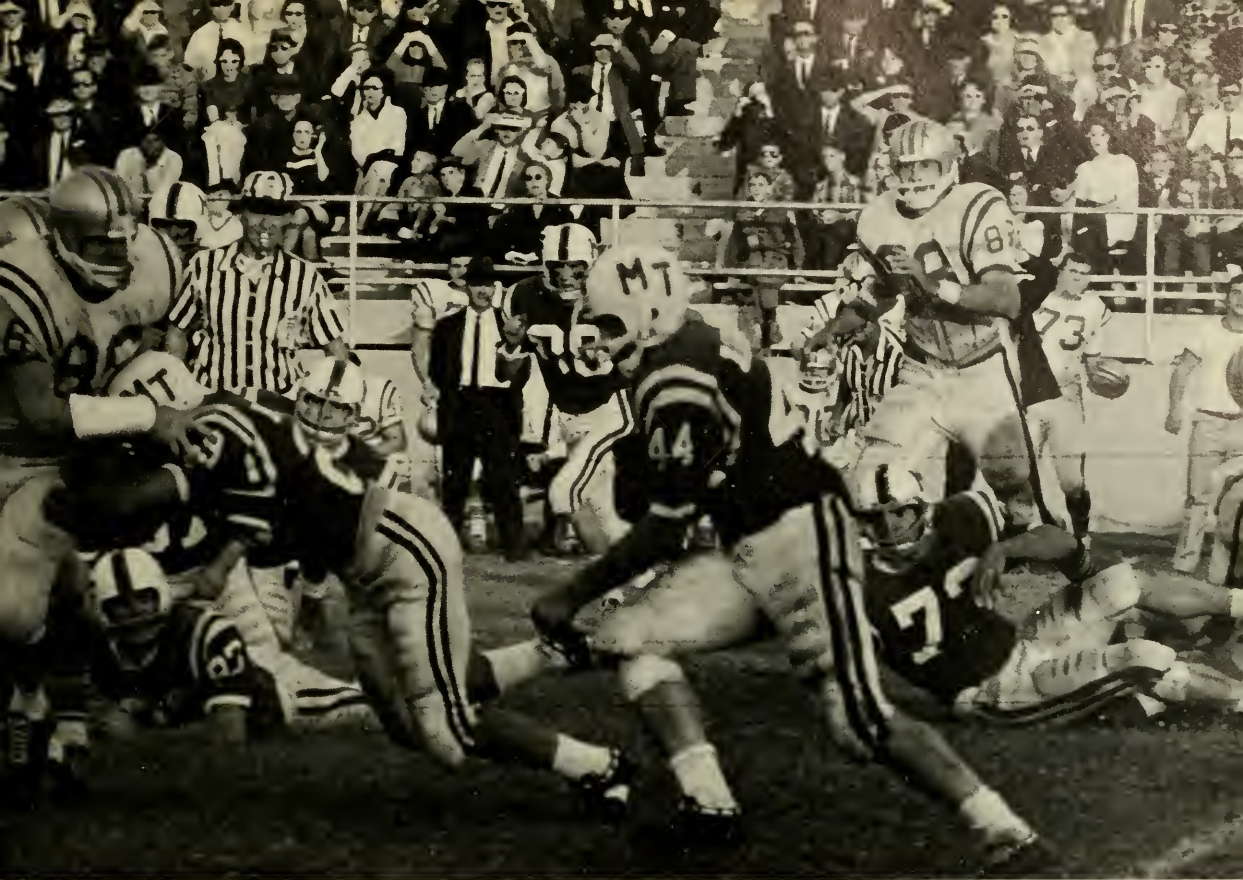

It was television day, the first OVC telecast in history, and, to add to the festive occasion, it was a beautiful afternoon bathed in sunshine. Too, the Raiders were predicted to angrily bounce back from their lone defeat the previous week at Chattanooga. But not noticeable in the script were the accumulated injuries of weeks past, a fired-up Governor eleven, and an affinity for penalties during the long afternoon. Austin Peay scored twice in the first quarter. It was not until the waning moments of the third quarter that the Raiders could cross the goal line. Jamison caught a Walker pass and Barnett kicked the extra point. Final score: 13-7.

MTSU couldn't stop the rain but had no trouble halting Murray State 33-0 before a hoarse homecoming crowd at Jones Field. The win was a big one for Coach

Breds Left in Starting Gate, 33-7

Charles (Bubba) Murphy as it left the Blue Raiders in the thick of the battle for the Ohio Valley Conference championship with a 4-1 lead. MTSU regulars, despite the rain, jumped on the Racers for 26 points in the first half. In pre-game ceremonies of the televised game, Horace Jones Field was officially dedicated. Through most of the second half, reserves played and played well.

Raiders Walk Bucs' Plank, 0-12

The last duo-act of the taut drama for the 1967 OVC co-championship was staged on board the good Buccaneer craft at East Tennessee State and in the Maroons' lair at Eastern Kentucky. Simply, it was: to insure a happy ending, the Raiders must win and the Maroons must pluck the Eagles from Morehead. But a tragedy it was. Eastern lost by upset and the Raiders spent a miserable night in the East Tennessee hills.

The Buccaneers did their only scoring, and the only scoring by either team, during the first half. Early in the fourth period, the Raiders drove to ETSU's 27 yard line but four incomplete passes throttled the drive. Fumbles and spirited enemy play contributed largely to the third and last defeat of the season. Score: 12-0.

The clock and some great second effort were the highlights in the annual Turkey day game in Tech's new stadium. The great second effort was an unplanned

"Normal" Does Well At Tech, 21-14

"flea flicker" play from Hlodan to Caplenor to score their second touchdown with only one second before halftime. With only seconds left on the clock and the score 21-14, the Raiders and the Eagles had a slight misunderstanding, allowing the clock to run out. Tech maintained that the game official should have called time out so that they could have run another play. They said that they could have scored and then gone for two points to win. Now honestly!

... and nudges the "flea flicker" to Caplenor.

... who sprints across Tech's goal line.

BASKETBALL RAIDERS HIT

NEW SPARK-DESPITE 10-15 SEASON"

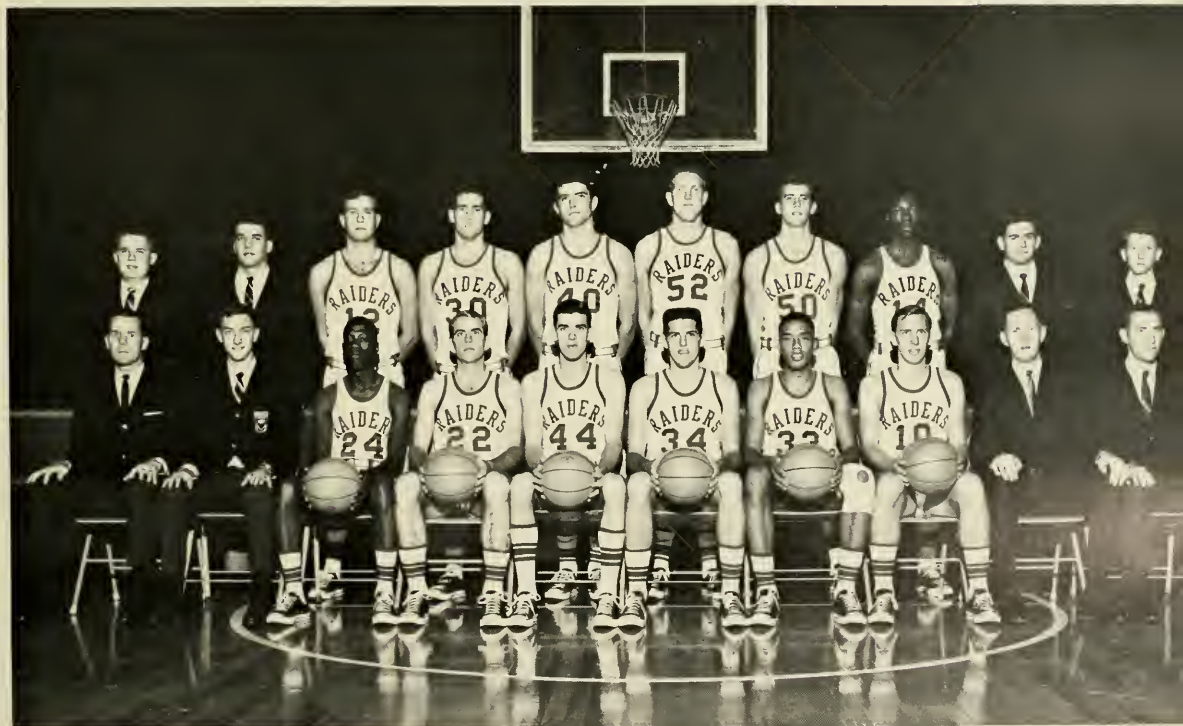

The Blue Raiders of coach Ken Trickey posted a 10-15 record for the 1966-67 season. This may not be considered a very good record by many, but it is a marked improvement over last year. It was also the first time a Raider team has won as many as ten games in one season since the 1963-64 season, and only the second time since 1957-58.

There were several highlights during the course of the season. First, there was MTSU's first-ever OVC tournament win, a 71-70 verdict over Austin Peay. Another highlight of the year was the win over Tech. It was the first time in over five years that the Raiders had defeated the Eagles in basketball.

This team was a real crowd-pleaser. They scored over 100 points in three of their first four games. They came from 27 points behind in the Murray game to take a two point lead before losing in overtime. They won two OVC games on the road. They moved from last place in the OVC standings of last year to seventh place this season.

Outstanding individual performances were abundant. Bobby Gardner scored 39 points against Chattanooga. Art Polk out-rebounded Murray's Dick Cunningham, the nation's rebounding leader, in a head-to head clash. Jay Cole held Tech's high-scoring Joe Hilson to nine points in the win over the Eagles, and Ed Cannon's 32 points against Chattanooga. Art Polk out-rebounded Murray's Dick Cunningham, the nation's rebounding leader, in a head-to head clash. Jay Cole held Tech's high-scoring Joe Hilson to nine points in the win over the Eagles, and Ed Cannon's 32 points and 17 rebounds, also against Tech, were high for the evening. Willie Brown made Honorable Mention All-OVC.

As a team, the Raiders averaged 76 points per game. The opponents scored 79.9 per tilt, but that was almost ten points per game less than last season. Even without the height of most of the teams they faced, MTSU was out-rebounded by less than one rebound per game, as compared with an average of eight last season.

Individually, Bobby Gardner was the top point producer with an average of 15 points per game. Ed Cannon was the rebound leader with 10.6.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The 1966-67 edition of the Blue Raider freshmen basketball team was the best in the school's history. The charges of coach Jimmy Earle posted a 21-4 record for the season. They downed such teams as Tennessee Tech, Western Kentucky (twice), Vanderbilt, Murray State (twice), and East Tennessee (twice).

Several players demonstrated that they are ready to win a job on the varsity next year. The best of the bunch were Ken Riley, a 6-6 jumping-jack, 6-10 Derry Cochran, deadeye guard Stan Sumrell, and forward Terry Scott. Darryl Bentson was the best sixth-man in the OVC. Rick Lassiter, Brad Wilson, and Steve Snyder could also be of value to the varsity next year.

Individually, the Raiders were led by Riley with an average of 16 points and 14 rebounds per contest. Scott was close on his heels with 13 points and 11 rebounds per game. Sumrell was good for 14 points per outing, while Bentson, rarely a starter, averaged 12.

Coach Earle has been very successful with the MTSU freshmen teams in his two years at the University. Last year's team was 17-7 and two of its members were varsity starters this season. If Coach Earle can continue to send two or three top-notch performers up to the varsity each year, then basketball at MTSU should take a turn upward.

TRACK

Track coach Dean Hayes is optimistic about the chances of this year's team. Returning are several members of last year's squad which posted a 4-1 record in dual meets, captured the TIAC meet, and placed fourth in the tough Ohio Valley Conference.

In addition to the returning lettermen, several top-rated freshmen, and a couple of talented transfers will be on hand. The top point producers for the Raiders are Jerry Singleton, who was ranked second in the nation in the 600-yard dash among freshmen last season, Brian Oldfield, who placed fifth in the NCAA College Division shot put event last June, and distance man Charlie Dahlgren, a transfer.

The Raiders competed in several major relays this season, including the Mason-Dixon Games, the Indiana Relays, and the Memphis Relays. Dual meets included contests with Indiana University, Vanderbilt, and Tennessee A & I, in addition to an OVC slate.

BASEBALL

The baseball team was one of the best in the history of MTSU last season, finishing with a 10-10-1 record in a sport in which the Raiders do not usually fare too well. This spring, the team was rated even better than last year's team.

Good defense, pretty strong pitching, and light hitting characterized the 1966 team. Don Tarter, at second base, is rated as one of the best in the Ohio Valley Conference. Butch McGrath, Paul Smith, and Greg Cunningham were the workhorses on the mound last season, and teamed with Gary Chrisman to give the Raiders a strong foursome. Bruce Skeen and Richard Howell were returning lettermen who were expected to carry the offensive load for the Big Blue this season.

Coach Jimmy Earle, in his second year at the helm of the MTSU nine, has done an outstanding job with the baseballers in the short time he has worked with them. Coach Earle was faced with the difficult job of replacing five starters from last year's team, but he was equal to the task. When the season opened with Tennessee, he fielded a sound team that was capable of giving anyone a hard time.

NET PROFITS FROM BUCK'S RACKETS

Tennis, under the very capable direction of Buck Bouldin, has become a huge success at MTSU in the past three seasons, and this season is expected to be the best of them all.

Coach Bouldin's teams have posted an overall record of 38 wins and 11 losses, including last year's fine 17-6 record against the toughest schedule in the school's history. This season the Raiders played 27 matches against an even tougher slate of opponents. Included on this season's schedule are such teams as Kentucky, Indiana, Virginia, VMI, and William & Mary. The team will also compete in the OVC tournament, in which they placed fourth last season, and the College Division of NCAA, in which they took fifth last June.

Returning to them are lettermen John Prevost, Neil Wright, Jr., Steve Wakefield, Jack Whitley, Jack Albane. These and a couple of outstanding freshmen prospects promise to make MTSU a team to be feared this year. Prevost, the number one man a year ago, will assume the same position this season. Neil Wright, Jr., the TIAC champion in the number 4 singles, and Steve Wakefield, the TIAC winner in the number 6 position, are expected to be a lot of help.

PATTY'S GOLFERS OVC'S BEST

Golf has long been the forte of MTSU spring sports, and this year was no exception. Following last year's disappointing (for MTSU) 3-2-1 dual meet record. Coach E. K. Patty went out and recruited some outstanding freshmen golfers. These first-year men once again boosted MTSU into the national prominence they enjoyed a couple of years ago. Best freshmen performers were Art Kraft, Ardie Knight, and Jec Riley.

Even in their "off year" last year, the golfers managed to win the OVC tournament and finish third in the TIAC meet. Bob Wolfe, who was also consistently a winner this season, was low medalist in the OVC tournament. Craig Stoudner, another valuable member of this year's team, placed third in the TIAC. In addition to the freshmen, other members of the team were Clay Holloway, Ernie Adcock, and George Cogbill.

Last season MTSU had a string of 57 consecutive dual meet victories broken by Chattanooga and Sewanee. This years team would surprise no one if they were to begin another such streak. Dr. E. K. Patty, MTSU's highly successful coach, was chosen as Coach-of-the-Year in the OVC last season. He will be the odds-on favorite to repeat this year.

"Big oaks from little acorns grow" might describe MTSU's first-year football program. The only difference is that many of the "acorns" are not too small—and, in fact, have all of the earmarks of "oaks" right at the beginning. Truth is, there were some who were solidly planted in the varsity "forest" when the season opened last fall. All of these hopefuls from the University's far-flung recruiting area are handpicked for the particular contributions that they, hopefully can make to future Raider excellence. The job has been most successful.

INTRAMURALS

INTRAMURALS

Somewhere along the line there is great need for the development of certain modest skills in sports. This serves as a continuing activity for recall in later life when exercise and recreation become a vital factor in the affairs of citizens. Somebody must have passed on this counsel to the University students. Each afternoon the areas adjacent to the Alumni Memorial Gymnasium fairly work with massed humanity. Both youthful and "old man" activities are well represented. These encompass rugged touch football, tennis, archery, volleyball, golf, and many others.

Those who will find it impossible to "carry over" many of the active sports will nevertheless have added some vital physical assets in the process. The University's intramural program, under the direction of Dr. Francis Riel and his staff, will compare favorably with any other university in Tennessee.

CHEERLEADERS

Captain Rita Pullian.

In a way, the eight sparkling cheerleaders who cavort on the court and at the edge of the gridiron, are policewomen in mini-skirts. The vitamin-powered lasses who "sell" themselves to the crowds can control and mediate many crises. In addition, they decorate a dismal November night on Horace Jones Field or a disappointing evening in the Memorial arena. Frequently, when the Raider roundballers travel to faraway Morehead or to some other remote spot on the OVC globe, the cheerleaders and their sponsor-chaperon are the only friendly faces in the crowd.

In essence, the cheerleaders are many other things. They are experts in public relations, practicing ducks in the downpours, Eskimos in the deep freeze, and actresses in the taut dramas. And more times than not, they're the forgotten heroines of many a battle, won or lost.

Would you believe . . . the first practice???

military

THE 1966-1967 ROTC Brigade of 1,585 cadets had a most active and productive year.

In national competition the cadet corps has been the most outstanding in MTSU history.

Important highlights were the Sam Davis Rifles Drill Team's first place performance at the Mardi Gras festivities in New Orleans and the Rifle Team's first place finish in the Vanderbilt Invitational rifle match and National Rifle Associational Competition.

In addition to national accomplishments, the Forrest Raiders received an introduction to airborne training at Fort Campbell, Kentucky, and participated in training at the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Social events included the Track and Sabre Club's Annual Fall Halloween Dance, and the Spring Military Ball and picnic.

The 1966-67 military unit at Middle Tennessee State University has been judged as one of the best in the University's history. Much of this quality can be attributed to the fine leadership of Lt. Col. James Chrietzberg and his staff. These men have had experience at many levels and types of military activities. Their rapport with the cadets of the Brigade has resulted in fine performance, not only at the crucial moment of Federal Inspection, but in classroom and drill field activities.

The Sam Davis Drill Team is composed of ROTC cadets who desire to become highly proficient at Military and fancy drill. The drill team is well known all over the Southeastern United States for its outstanding proficiency and its crowd pleasing performance. The Sam Davis unit has participated in approximately eighteen parades and drill meets and has marched in as many as two parades in one day.

The Sam Davis Drill Team participate in events that take them from Kentucky to New Orleans, Louisiana to the Mardi Gras festival. The team travels all over the southeastern United States and has performed for as many as 200,000 people in one trip.

The drill team also takes part in many campus activities such as Homecoming, ROTC Appreciation Night, and Federal Inspection.

The Sam Davis Drill Team won first place in the Mardi Gras festival in New Orleans, Louisiana, and finished high in the Vanderbilt Drill Meet. The team has placed in the top three positions for the last two years at Vanderbilt.

FORREST RAIDERS

The Raiders have trained hard this year and reaped rewarding results. Their training has carried them from Fort Campbell, Kentucky, to Fort Benning, Georgia, where they have trained with both the Airborne and the Rangers. The wearers of the "Black Beret" are a proud and elite group of cadets. These "rough and ready" troubleshooters of the Brigade are introduced to the tougher side of warfare. Alertness, quick intelligence, and a feel for survival are qualities that all of the personnel must have in abundance.

organizations

IN a way, the great family of clubs in the campus serve as extensions of the classrooms. In another way, these extra-class organizations provide something not found in the professional atmosphere. Very important, they serve as vehicles for leadership, social life, and service. Our future governor may eventually step from one of those Tuesday evening sessions in the Student Union. Who knows, some of our representatives in the forum place may receive his or her impetus from the give-and-take of a campus group. Paraphrasing a familiar ditty from a finance company commercial, "There's a club for every man—and woman."

What's behind the bright red door? The headquarters and main habitation of the BSU—one of the 550 chapters of one of the largest Christian collegiate organizations in the world. The BSU is a joint missionary enterprise of the Southern Baptist Churches of Tennessee. Its purpose is to minister to the unique needs of the University community. A full-time campus minister supervises and counsels students in their program and personal lives.

Among the regular activities are intramural sports, daily noonday lunch and devotions, Vespers, Summer Missions, Choir and Extension trips, "Skeptic Hour" meetings in dorms, parties and mission work at V.A. Hospital and Marshall Knob.

Special events throughout the year include the Fall Retreat (local) in September, BSU Convention (state-wide) in October, International Retreat in November, Mid-Winter Retreat (local) in February, Jim Vaus Lecture Series in March, Spring Retreat (state-wide) in April, and national-wide assemblies at Ridgecrest, N. C., and Glorieta, New Mexico during the summer. The annual Fall Retreat furnishes the major thrust of the school year. 95 attended the carefully planned program this year for their personal renewal.

BSU students plan to give $1500 to summer missions this year. Selected students serve for ten weeks during the summer as aids to full-time missionaries across the U. S. and overseas.

CANTERBURY ASSOCIATION

The Canterbury Association under the direction of Reverend Franklin Ferguson works in connection with the Episcopal Church of the university community. The group meets at the home of Dean and Mrs. Chester A. Burns for informal discussions of topics of religion and other related areas of interest to the members. The friendly and informal atmosphere has promoted fellowship and increased interest in the Canterbury Association.

CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN GROUP

One of the objectives of the Cumberland Presbyterian Group this year has been to increase membership and attendance. This objective has been accomplished through the efforts of the 1966-67 officers and the assistance of the sponsor, Mrs. Mary Glover. This group now meets in the Cumberland Presbyterian Church rather than on campus. The students have occupied the choir loft on two occasions and have taken active roles in other programs of the church. Several socials during the year have promoted Christian fellowship.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Possibly the largest student religious group on the campus, the Church of Christ Group, meets twice each week. Its attendance percentage is something of a challenge to other campus groups. For example, there has been an average of over one hundred and twenty in attendance each Wednesday evening during the past year. The Church of Christ Group endeavors to promote an education for eternity rather than the mere seventy years we spend on earth. Interesting speakers and other inspirational programs compose the group's forty-five minute devotions at six o'clock each Wednesday evening. In addition there is a twenty-minute devotional period on Monday evening.

A four-night lectureship is held in March and three week-end encampments are designed to promote spiritual growth. Social highlights of the year include several parties and the annual spring banquet. Two faculty members meet with the Church of Christ Group. Dr. Wymer Wiser is the general advisor while Miss Christine Vaughan is social advisor.

The Newman Club, established in 1947 and presently under the direction of Dr. Francis Riel, strives to maintain close relationships between Catholic students and the church. In cooperation with the group, Father Philip Toni offers guidance and advice to the members of the group concerning their study of other religions in an attempt to better understand the various faiths. The Newman Club meets regularly once each week for planned programs. Frequently, laymen are invited to address the group.

The Westminster Fellowship is a member of the larger organization that function on the state level. This organization, known as the Westminster Fellowship of the Synod of Tennessee, is a body of the Presbyterian Church, United States. The campus group meets once each week. Some of the activities include discussions on religious topics of the day and studies in social problems currently facing the nation. Films and filmstrips are often used to illustrate a particular topic discussed.

Frequently, off campus speakers are invited as features of the weekly programs. The Westminster Fellowship has set as its goal that of promoting a Christian atmosphere on the campus and of providing outlets for religious experiences.

Wesley Foundation is the Methodist Student Center, located at 607 North Tenn. Boulevard. The purpose of the Wesley Foundation is to provide the ministry of the Methodist Church to the university community. There are over 1400 Methodist student at MTSU. The Wesley Foundation encourages their regular contact with their churches at home and also is a connecting link, working with the particular Methodist churches in Murfreesboro.

"Wesley" has an extensive program on campus. Each Wednesday evening it meets at the Student Union Building for programs of various types: speakers such as professors, missionaries, social workers, and other prominent persons; drama; films; experiments in contemporary worship; etc.

On Sunday morning it meets for coffee and donuts followed by a Sunday School Class which concerns itself with issues of theological or social importance. On Thursday mornings at 7:20 a.m. Wesley meets in a short devotional prayer meeting. Sunday night at 8:15 is social hour. Many members of the group also participate in community service such as Project Headstart and volunteer work at the hospital.

Two weekend retreats each year emphasize study and fun in a camp or state park setting. "Wesley" is active in campus activities and is a center of recreation and fellowship. Personal religious growth together with parties and regular chats over a cup of tea combine to make a full schedule.

Director is Rev. Richard Shriver and the faculty advisor is Mr. Paul Ducker.

The Biology Club was one of the first campus groups to be organized. It had its beginning as the Science Club and bore this name until sciences were departmentalized at Middle Tennessee. The Club offers an activity for biology majors and minors as well as for those interested in the biological sciences. In addition, guest speakers, films, and other related activities are provided during the year to stimulate student interest in biology.

Each year the Club sponsors a Homecoming float, a Christmas party, a representative in the Miss Midlander Pageant, a booth during "Holiday Weekend," as well as a spring outing. Each year it sponsors the Annual Stunt Night. The Club also sponsors the George Davis Loan Fund which assists biology majors who may be in financial distress.

CIRCLE K

The Circle K Club was organized in 1954. The organization, a junior version of Kiwanis International, has as its purpose to render services, in particular to the Middle Tennessee University campus. The University Circle K club is affiliated with the Kentucky-Tennessee District, and attended the district convention in Paduca, Kentucky. Circle K sponsors the chapter Sweetheart. This year the title was bestowed upon Lynn Poehler.

Circle K is the number one service group on campus. It probably heads the list in the number of sponsored projects. It is an active participant in intramural competition, placed third in the float entry division of the Homecoming Parade, and has placed litter barrels at strategic points on the campus. In addition, it provided a Christmas Party for underprivileged children, a picnic for the Good Shepard's Home children, a campus clean-up campaign, and a get-out-the-vote campaign. It placed second place at Stunt Night and co-sponsored the Miss Midlander Pageant.

The Block and Bridle Club, organized in 1959, has as its primary purpose that of promoting animal husbandry in the principal area served by Middle Tennessee State University. The MTSU chapter is a member of the National Block and Bridle Club. Shortly after its organization, it fostered the annual Farmers' Frolic which is the only square dance promoted as a part of Campus Fun Night. Each year the club sponsors an FFA Opportunity Day and judging teams for the Southern Region Livestock and Dairy Conference. The Block and Bridle organization boasts one accomplishment above all the rest as highlighting its seven-year existence. This was the lead taken by the Club in organizing the Intercollegiate Cattle Judging Conference of which six colleges are now members. Sponsors of the club are Dr. Robert Alexander and Mr. J. E. Young.

Block and Bridle joined the effort to help the Raiders "warm the OVC blanket."

BLUE RAIDER SPORTS CAR CLUB

Hilliard, Chuck Constant, Secretary; Cary Phillips, Randy Smith, Treasurer; Bob Griffin, Richard Arnold, Publicity Director; Robin Jones, Dr. Raine, Advisor; Cytous Mohamadkhani, Ronald Karty, House of Representatives.

The Blue Raider Sports Car Club was originated in the fall of 1963 under the leadership of Sidney Franklin. It obtained a charter from the State of Tennessee in 1966 to operate as a non-profit organization. The purpose of the club is to promote safe and courteous driving, to sponsor events for the enjoyment of the members, and to serve as a test of their skill and ability in driving.

The club membership and activities more than doubled during the 1966-67 school year. For the first time the club remained active throughout the summer, sponsoring three autocross events. During the Fall semester the club held a 150-mile rally and an autocross in October, entered a decorated car in the Homecoming Parade, and put on the Second Annual Raider Ramble in December. Spring activities consisted of two more autocrosses and another 150-mile rally.

Members participate in the events of other Sports Car Clubs in the Middle Tennessee area. In an effort to promote inter-club relationship, a championship series of three inter-collegiate autocrosses were held in the spring in cooperation with the clubs of Tennessee Technological University and Vanderbilt.

VETERANS CLUB

Yes, the University still has veterans on the campus. In fact, membership is now fifty-five and it remains one of the finest service-minded groups at the University. The Club was established by veterans of World War II in 1947. It was originally planned as a social and service organization for members of the student body who had been in the Armed Services. During the first year the constitution and by-laws were written and adopted. Its original purposes then and now are to serve the University and to be of benefit to its members. It plays an active role in most University functions and provides social events for the members and their guests.

The Club engages in a wide range of activities. There is an eye glass fund which provides assistance for veterans, whether Club members or not, in purchasing needed glasses. Another fund was established for the purpose of providing assistance to veterans in such necessary items as books, tuition, and room rent. In 1954, the Club staged its first Talent Show which subsequently evolved into an annual affair. In 1962, the beauty contest was an additive at which time a Miss Veterans Club was selected.

BUCHANAN PLAYER

tree, Ann Windrow, Joy Sittel, Don Smith, Sharlena Phillips, Michael Waggoner, Joyce Call, Mel Black, Sally Weatherford, Karen Steinke, Brad Beck, Phyllis Murphy, Keith Bronder, Emily Amonett, Jack Gilpin, Joel Wallace, Lynn Brown, Marie Foutch, Tony Marshall, Andrea Lindsey, Cynthia Williams, Michael Stewart.

Members of the Buchanan Players at MTSU receive excellent training in acting, stagecraft, makeup, lighting, directing and all phases of the Theatre. A student must work five hours in some phase of stage activity each semester in order to maintain their membership. The Players give as their purposes the following: (1) to stimulate among the students of the University an interest in the art of drama, (2) to find and develop the dramatic talents of all members, and (3) to assist the members of the Buchanan Players to qualify for membership in the National honorary dramatics fraternity. The membership is open to all students of MTSU with the Theatre majors serving as the nucleus of the organization.

The Players have a most imposing array of productions to their credit for 1966-67. The first presentation was Jean Giraudoux's "The Madwoman of Chaillot" which played to a "Standing Room Only" audience. The second production of the year was a co-operative effort with the Music Department for the presentation of Johann Strauss "Die Fledermaus." The arena production, Moss Hart's "Light Up the Sky", delighted the audience for its entire run. The season's finale was the tragedy "Antigone" by the French playwright Jean Anouilh.

Produced and directed by Dorethe Tucker.

The Collegiate Council for the U.N. was organized in the fall of 1963, its purposes being to express support of and belief in the United Nations and to build a more informed student support for the United Nations. In the past the club has sponsored United Nations Day in the community, brought speakers and films concerning world affairs to the campus, sent a student to the conference at Harvard University, sent a student to New York in 1965 to participate in a practical study relating to the U.N., sent a delegation to the 1965 Midwest Model United Nations in St. Louis, co-sponsored the Harlem Magicians in a show on the campus, and co-sponsored Dr. John Stoessinger, a speaker in the Public Affairs Lecture Series.

Larry Tolliver is a fine example of the hard working CCUN.

The Home Economics Club was organized in 1922, when Middle Tennessee was still a Normal school. The Club is affiliated with both the Tennessee and the American Home Economics Association. The Betty Lamp is the symbol of all home economics chapters in the United States. This lamp is called the "lamp of joy, knowledge, fellowship, cooperation, service, and achievement." Some of their main activities include district workshops, state conventions, senior banquets. Career Day for high school seniors enrolled in area high schools, a money-making project which consists of selling candy on campus, participating in the homecoming parade, and working with Project Headstart. The young ladies enrolled in the club work hard to become homemakers, home economists, dietitians, and the teachers of tomorrow.

HEALTH, PHYSICAL EDUCATION, AND RECREATION CLUB

The Health, Physical Education, and Recreation Club has as its major goal the stimulation of interest in the profession of physical education. And the members appeared to have accomplished this mission through several channels. In the first place, the club members attended two conventions. These were the Southern District Convention which met in Richmond, Virginia, and the Tennessee H.P.E.R. Convention which met in Nashville. In the second place, the club sponsors a dance in the "World of Dance" program. Also, a most popular annual event is the Powder Puff game. Whether this event stimulates an interest in physical education is open to some discussion. However, it does draw well and it enunciates a very important point: The female of the species have done right well by themselves by leaving the serious football activities to the males.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB

The Industrial Arts Club provides its members with social contacts and informative programs to benefit them in their profession. The organization strives to stimulate interest and advancement in the field of their choice. Its curriculum consists of service and money-raising projects which make it a very active club. The club builds a float each homecoming, has an entry in the Miss Midlander Contest, field trips, banquets, and a picnic in the spring of each year.

Each year the club sends out members who are well-prepared to enter the field of Industrial Arts.

Members of Industrial Arts Club proved skills by building a very distinguished float for homecoming parade.

BOOSTER CLUB

The Booster Club is a relatively young campus organization but it has developed into a very essential force at athletic contests. It promotes a feeling of good sportsmanship throughout the student body, and promotes and protects the best interest of MTSU. Boosters have been responsible for several busloads of students traveling to foreign fields both during the football and basketball seasons. Besides promoting school spirit, the Club has sold booster buttons, pennants and sponsored a decorated automobile in the Homecoming Parade.

The 1966-67 membership was the largest in the history of the Club which might be one explanation for the new level of school spirit at the University. Many freshmen who were caught up in the enthusiasm generated by the Booster Club this past year will probably continue as avid supporters of their Raider teams. Booster clubs of the future will be dedicated to the task of continually stoking the embers, if they successfully emulate the pacesetters of 1966-67.

the language barriers, if any, a counselor has been appointed. The International Club also assists in the transition by providing occasions for socialization and discussion of problems.

The Orchesis came into being during the Spring semester of 1965. Very few, outside of the physical education classes, knew at the time just what had come into being until the news leaked out that this was another name for the Modern Dance Club. With this mysterious, if not imposing, new name going in their favor the young ladies went on their way in the wonderful world of gyratory interpretation. The first president, or chief interpreter, was Charlotte Buck. Rebecca was the first vice-president and Carol Toddy the secretary-treasurer.

The Orchesis, or if you prefer, Modern Dance Club, launched out into their first project on May 8, 1965. On this occasion the Modern Dance Workshop was held in University Memorial Gymnasium. Some sixty-five people from colleges and universities throughout the Southland participated. Again, the Orchesis, or if you're prejudiced, Modern Dance Club, meets each Wednesday in the dance studio. Activities include participation in the "World of Dance" each fall and in the swimming show each spring. Several fundraising projects keep the members in leotard money.

TRACK AND SABRE CLUB

The Track and Sabre Club is a social-military organization open to all ROTC cadets. The purpose of the club is to provide its members with comradeship, promote the activities of the university and its students, promote the ROTC among students, faculty and local populace of Murfreesboro. The Track and Sabre Club sponsors many events, which are the Annual Halloween Dance, Homecoming Float, Military Ball and Spring Picnic.

The club's largest contribution during 1966-1967 was the construction and decorating of a cadet lounge for all ROTC cadets.

"Turn that bull out," rang out the voice that could be heard quite a ways in the young spring afternoon. And, sure enough, out of the paddock he came with a wild bellow and a cloud of dust. Everybody in the bleachers alongside shuddered an anticipatory shudder as the big Brahma leaped and gyrated in a most antisocial way. His face, contorted in a low-bicarbonate grimace, reflected his level of esteem held for this rodeo, or any rodeo for that matter. Up front, bobbing like a cork in a fish hatchery, was a human being, one of the University students, in fact. Ten seconds later, or thereabouts, the rider arched through the air and slammed against the arena fence followed shortly by the bull who still wore his feelings on his sleeve. But the bull was lured away by the clown, the student scrambled away, and another big event was concluded. This was the Rodeo Club at play.

This marginal-safety group was organized in 1963 to stimulate interest in rodeoing, which is to say "Missioned Accomplished." Two shows were presented this past year. The Rodeo Club student activity is fostered by the up-and-coming Agriculture Department. Mr. Earl Young is the sponsor.

Fledglings, teachers-to-be, get their first brush with professional organizations in their membership in the campus Student National Education Association. And perhaps, because it is a well organized group with planned programs and objectives, it provides excellent transitional training for entrance into the larger professional organizations. The Future Teachers of America for the Middle Tennessee State University chapter was formed on April 17, 1946. In 1958 a change in the title was effected with the new designation, "Student National Education Association", for the campus young teacher group.

The major goals of S.N.E.A. are that of strengthening and unifying special interest professional groups. Many outstanding educators appear on the programs. There are some student-originated programs as well. Study is made of the teaching profession through participation in the work of the local, state, and national education associations. There are occasions when the campus organization works together on problems of the profession. It is anticipated that this near-simulation of actual conditions will provide better informed teachers for Tennessee schools and schools of other states.

A teacher! Hmm-----every classroom should have one!

The Middle Tennessee State University "T" is the only athletic letter permitted to be worn on the MTSU campus. This letter symbolizes participation in the University's athletic program, which has made a great contribution to the school throughout the years. In 1947 the recipients of this letter formed the organization which came to be known as the T Club. This club seeks to take part in campus affairs and bring about better relations between the student body and athletics. The T Club also has as its purpose the promotion of a close association among the athletics themselves. All MTSU letter winners are encouraged to join this organization and take part in its various affairs. The T Club works at the high school basketball tournaments held here at MTSU in order to raise money, which is used to make improvements in the athletic dormitory and to finance the annual T Club picnic which is held each year as a conclusion of the club's activities.

The University Mermaids and their male counterparts compose the splashingest club on the campus. The Tritons, small numerically, are among the most skillful aquatic performers and they meet regularly to practice in preparation for a few public performances during the year. The home of the Tritons is the Natatorium located to the east of Memorial Gymnasium. Here, in a temperature-controlled atmosphere, aquatics become an activity for all of the months of the year.

The highlight of the year is the annual water show which is presented in the glare of flashing lights and music. This has developed into one of the most popular campus shows of the year as it is always staged before a packed house. The sponsor of our club is Miss Sally MacKinnon.

Will you please hurry up and snap this picture.

The Women's Athletic Association was reorganized in 1963 to serve as a valuable athletic activities promoter for women students at MTSU. W.A.A. has succeeded in developing a competitive intramural program involving team games of volleyball, basketball, and softball. The club also sponsors an extramural basketball team which competes in tourneys with other institutions and participates in a tournament at Carson-Newman College. One project of W.A.A. is to support a scholarship fund to be used by a senior member of the club for her matriculation at the University. Each year the W.A.A. sponsors an entrant in the Miss Midlander Pageant.

Upon graduation many of the W.A.A. members will enter recreation work or will coach. Many of the W.A.A. alumnae now serve as highly successful physical education directors in both elementary and secondary schools.

The WAA pageant beauty, Cheri Headden, seems to pick up points from Miss Tennessee.

AMERICAN GUILD OF ORGANISTS

Organized in 1947, the American Guild of Organists was the first student group of this type in the United States. Its purposes are (1) to advance the cause of worthy church music, (2) to raise the standards of efficiency of organists by examinations in organ playing, and (3) to provide members with opportunities for discussing professional topics. This very active group performs at both campus and off campus recitals. Members from this organization also provide the Christmas music in our two cafeterias.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

In an era of chemistry and mathematics, the Chemistry Club is really an elite organization. Its principle objectives are to stimulate an intellectual understanding of the world of chemistry and to create and advance the interests of its individual members. During the year, programs highlighting outstanding authorities in various scientific fields, are presented. In addition, field trips are taken to industrial laboratories in the area. This letter activity is extremely important since it gives purpose and direction to the area of study that the club represents.

TAU SIGMA

Tau Sigma is a newly formed organization on campus which is interested in the sociological problems in the nation. The group is composed of sociology students and other interested persons on campus. The club has had such distinguished guest speakers as Lt. Charles Stoner of the Nashville Police Department, who talked about juvenile delinquency in Nashville, and Miss Woods who works with Operation Head Start. A bi-monthly newsletter is published by the society for the members and any other interest persons. Mr. Harold Conway and Mr. McBroom are the sponsors.

LA SOCIETE FRANCAISE

La Societe Francaise was established on the University campus in the fall of 1963. Its primary purpose is to acquaint its members with the true French mode of life. Its forty members were very active during the year. High among their activities is the foreign film series.

DIE DEUTSCHEN KAMERADEN

The title above is a dead give away as to the type of club that is herein represented. If your English has served you right, and you answered "German" to those leaning over your shoulder, you are correct, pure and complex. The purpose of this club, similar to other organizations derived from subject areas, is to serve as a less-pointed extension of the classroom. It serves, in the words of President Sahib Alhaddad to "further the knowledge of the German language and culture among the students enrolled in the German classes of the University."

PRE-LAW SOCIETY

These future lawyers have as their goal that of keeping in contact with practicing attorneys and other individuals with a law degree. By doing this they can acquire some idea as to whether their choice to be in law will suit them, and what field of law would they be more interested. The Pre-Law Society is one of the newer organizations, which, due to a late start does not have large recognition on campus. However, due to hard work by its members the Pre-Law Society is rapidly developing.

EL CIRCULO HISPANO

El Circulo Hispano has been a part of school life for several years, but this past year has been one of the most active ones in its history. During the year, club members saw slides taken by the club's sponsor, Mr. Porter, in Spain, rode in a float in the Homecoming Parade, participated in Stunt Night, and sold doughnuts. In order to further its purpose, the deeper understanding of the Spanish language and people, the club meets once each month to hear guest speakers, sample Spanish food, and see filmstrips.

COLLEGE YOUNG DEMOCRATS

This could be one of the very smug groups on the campus, what with Democratic ascendancy on the national level and at most every other level. But, strangely enough, it is a very active organization and the pot continues to boil. The Young Democrats learn their politics in a collegiate atmosphere and will undoubtedly be intelligent assets to their community—and to their PARTY—during their alumni days.

In order to “bring the mountain to Mahomet,” several important political figures have been invited to the campus. Former Tennessee Senator Ross Bass made an appearance on one occasion and gave a program largely devoted to questions and answers on current issues. On two other occasions two possible candidates for the high office of Tennessee Governor presented programs. More utilitarian activities include local precinct work during the last Presidential election and a fund raising campaign to purchase clothes for indigent families.

THE YOUNG REPUBLICANS CLUB

This year the Young Republicans adopted the slogan “Achievement through ACTION” and the results of the club’s labor speaks for itself. I feel that the combined effort of the Young Republicans and the Young Tennesseans for Baker significantly raised the percentage of votes for Howard Baker in Rutherford County above the percentage which was expected from the results of a pole conducted in the summer by Baker headquarters.

After the Young Republicans left the campaign trail they were far from idle; the club has worked hard and has shown its school spirit through the entry of a car in the Homecoming Parade and by selecting Miss Sue Dixon to represent the Young Republicans in the Miss MIDLANDER pageant. This has truly been a banner year for the organization and it has more than fulfilled the slogan, “ACHIEVEMENT through ACTION.”

SPELUNKERS

The Spelunking club, one of the newer organizations on campus, is one of the most unusual and challenging clubs. To be a spelunker, or a caveman, one must first learn how to spell the word. Then this person gathers with a few of his colleagues and goes traipsing off into the dark confines of a cave. To insure safety each member must have the latest in protective equipment in addition to a good supply of food and water.

SOCRATICS

In its first year of existence, the Socratics has become known as one of the most progressive and dedicated organizations on campus. Founded for the purpose of promoting the academic life of the University and an intellectual atmosphere, it sponsored numerous debates and forums on topics of local and national importance which were well received by the University community. The group did not limit itself to any one activity, but engaged in several service projects much needed by the University. With its highly successful first year behind it, the Socratics has already begun work on a more ambitious series of programs for next year.

COLLEGIATE 4-H

sentence represent mottos for that organization. The calf and hybrid corn raisers group was formed at the University in 1963. Its goal is that of developing qualities of leadership and citizenship among its members. It functions primarily as a service organization. Plans are in the making for an accelerated program of assisting area 4-H clubs at the secondary school level. The Club meets monthly and presents programs associated with the agricultural theme.

academics

EVEN with the coming of the Honeywell 1200 (that's a computer, George), the administration and faculty still maintain the closeness and friendliness to students that has been a trademark of the university during all its years. With the steady upward climb of enrollment, certain conversion in the direction of mechanization have been made. Administrative and instructional staff have also increased. Caught up with the impetus of growth and refinement is the academic program. Not only have new departments and new courses been added, but the quality of instruction and demand for increasingly better performance have moved forward. This is still the most friendly university anywhere.

ADMINISTRATION

Much of the expansion of Middle Tennessee State University, both physical and curricular, can be attributed to the vision and sympathetic support of the Tennessee State Board of Education. Composed of thirteen members, including the Commissioner of Education, the Board meets quarterly to wrestle with problems attending a growing student population. Governor Buford Ellington, an ex-officio member of the Board, came into office in January of 1967 and since then has proposed one of the most significant education programs in Tennessee's history. Mr. J. Howard Warf, Commissioner, is an alumnus of the University. He is in his second four-year term as chief administrator for Tennessee education, having served with Hon. Frank Goad Clement, Governor Ellington's predecessor. Mr. Edward Jennings, a long time member of the Board is also an alumnus of the University.

DR. QUILL E. COPE

PRESIDENT

Many authorities in the field have placed President Quill Cope among the most skilled administrators in the South. This has occurred because of a great number of factors. Since coming to the University in 1958, he has provided the vision and leadership for a gigantic campus expansion. Most recently the high rise dormitory for women was opened. Now in the advanced stages of construction are a science building and a University Center. When completed these two excellent additions will provide needed expansion in the sciences and more services for students. President Cope has also laid plans for a massive development program to be completed during the next four years.

Not only has President Cope placed great emphasis on physical advancements, but on curricular and service programs as well. As needs are apparent, new majors and minors are added to the growing areas of concentration. New departments are also created when particular emphasis is desired and demands are sufficient to segment existing departments. There is a continuous "tying-in" of all of the campus activities to effect a unity of purpose. This has been one of President Cope's greatest achievements.

Despite the acceleration in enrollment and the attending growth of administrative details, the President still maintains an "open door" policy to both students and faculty. Also, he still reserves much of his busy life for the multiplicity of student-originated programs. He, in company with the University's First Lady, Mrs. Cope, is a guest at many campus functions.

He exemplifies the rare combination of closeness to his work and an awareness of developments in the main stream of higher education.

SCHOOL OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Areas of study encompassed by the School of Arts and Sciences cover broad fields of human relationships, heritages, strict disciplines, and most the extra-vocational endeavors of man. This would mean that there are opportunities to develop the bread-and-butter facet of life as well as those that train for better citizenship and a happy and appreciated individual in his culture. These opportunities are found in the following departments: Biology, Physics and Chemistry, History, Languages, Mathematics, Sociology, Political Science, Geography, and Speech and Theatre.

Preparation for teaching is a thread that "runs so true" through all of these departments, yet there is a plethora of other preparational areas as well.

The widely acclaimed Science and Mathematics Institute held each summer on the campus falls administratively under this school. The Institute draws scholarship recipients from most of the Southern states. Its greatest service has been the great impetus given to improved classroom teaching in mathematics and science.

Teaching aides are necessary in transmitting facts to students.

Biological science laboratories put theory into practice.

DR. CLAY TUCKER
Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences

BIOLOGY

One of the larger departments, Biology, has approximately two thousand enrollees. One hundred and ninety of these are classified as majors. In addition, forty students are in the Masters program. Beginning with the 1966 academic year, a Graduate Assistantship program was launched with stipend of $2000 for each university year.

New courses approved for the department include: History and Philosophy of Biology, Biological Literature, Speciation, Microtechnique, and Research. A new science building, now under construction, will provide quarters for biology in September of 1967. The department will be assigned to the first floor. The burgeoning staff now has sixteen full-time instructors and five graduate assistants.

GEOGRAPHY

One of the newest departments, Geography, is headed by Dr. Ed Baldwin, globe-trotting professor whose "traveling" classroom has received considerable publicity throughout the South. During the summer of 1967, Dr. Baldwin will conduct a group of students through Northwestern Europe. Featured in the Geography Department are a planetarium and a Maparium. The latter is a depository (designated by the Army Map Service) for 25,000 maps.

Curricular extensions include new courses in human geography, maps and map interpretation, and Africa.

This department offers a rich field for those planning careers in law, journalism, teaching or government. The heritage of our country and the contributions made by "feeder" countries are integral factors in professions involving human relationships.

ENGLISH

Although English is a requisite that pervades all instructional areas on the campus, many of its students choose it as a career. In addition to teaching careers, many English majors become writers, reporters, editors, radio and television announcers, and leaders in other areas where proficiency in the spoken and written word is a prime factor.

The English Department is housed appropriately in a former library, the Murphree Building. Because of its strategic position in the center of the campus, it can be appropriately called the "hub," both position-wise and in number of students served.

Several of its staff members act in consultative capacities for area industry and business concerns. Dr. Ralph Hyde and Mrs. Annie Farris serve as editors for the Tennessee Folklore Journal.

LANGUAGES

"Wir leben nicht allein," or "Nosotros no vivimos solos," or "on n existe pas seul," or anyway that it is sliced, it always comes out in English as "We do not live alone." Perhaps this is one of the motives activating a program of languages at MTSU. The study of languages erodes, to a degree the rigid walls separating nationalities in a world whose peoples must learn to live together. German, Spanish and French, from a more practical position, are presented as an introduction to languages as ends within themselves. Language instruction at MTSU fills one of the needs expressed by a diverse student body.

MATHEMATICS

Similar to English, the Mathematics Department serves one of the largest groups of students on the campus. One of the most accurate gauges of University growth is the increase of staff member needs by the department.

Mathematics offers training in the areas of teaching and graduate study leading to research, industry, civil service, and various phases of statistical work. The department has moved into computer science under the direction of staff member Dr. Paul Hutcheson. The recently installed computer center in the basement of the Administration will serve as a laboratory for aspiring industrial and research technicians.

A greatly improved instructional laboratory has been made possible by means of a National Science Foundation grant matched by university funds.

Several of the Chemistry and Physics Department staff members have procured grants for research. Included in this group are Mr. Clifton Thompson, Dr. James Brown, Mr. Roy Clark, Dr. Dan Scott, and Dr. Edwin Woods.

POLITICAL SCIENCE

The Political Science Department places duo-emphasis in its program. First, the department has its complement of courses which provides basic information and philosophical bases. Secondly, and of critical importance, is the "action" program which, in essence, converts classroom activities into real life situations. Noteworthy is the intern program in which certain political science students are placed for a period in federal offices, state agencies, and others. In addition, the department spearheads the attractive Public Affairs Lecture series which bring individuals of international reputation to the campus. In keeping with the "action" emphasis, several staff members play integral roles in regional political science organizations. Dr. Norman Parks, department head, and staff were signally honored last November in being chosen to report election returns for NBC.

SOCIOLOGY

The Sociology Department is one of three departments created last July from Social Science. The other two are Geography and Political Science. These latter two divisions are completely organized and department heads have been chosen. Dr. Clay Tucker, Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, is presently serving as acting head of the Sociology Department until a permanent administrator is selected. Sociology became a department principally because of the rapid growth of the university and the need for a clearer focus on the training of social workers, teachers of sociology, and those preparing for vocations in closely related fields.

SPEECH AND THEATRE

The Department of Speech and Theatre at MTSU was organized in the fall of 1963. Majors are offered in Public Speaking and Theatre as well as a combination minor in both of these academic areas. Courses in Speech and Hearing Science are offered for students interested in this area of Speech leading to a minor and certification.

The Department of Speech and Theatre, housed in the Dramatic Arts Building, fields one of the outstanding forensic teams in the South. In addition, it sponsors the Buchanan Players (this organization produced the "Wild Woman of Chailot" and other outstanding productions during the 1966-67 year), Alpha Psi Omega, and Pi Kappa Delta.

Facilities among others, in the imposing Dramatic Arts Building, include a proscenium theatre, an arena theatre, spacious classrooms, sound-proof recording rooms, faculty offices, and clinical training areas for speech correction.

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

Mr. E. W. Midgett is shown here signing the contract for his soon to be published book on accounting which is basically concerned with accounting for the businessman.

During the University year of 1966-67, Dean Firman Cunningham launched an intensive program of community contacts. The object of this was in keeping with the purposes of his school, that of preparing students for positions demanding skills in modern business and industry. To ascertain the needs and demands of potential employers, there appeared to be no better method than that of on-the-spot confrontation. From these many journeys into the hinterlands, it is anticipated that future school directions will be adjusted accordingly.

Operating under the School of Business and Industry are the following departments: Accounting, Agriculture, Business Administration, Business Education, Economics, Industrial Arts, Military Science, and Nursing Education.

The newest member of this School family is Nursing Education. This new department offers the Associate Degree in Nursing and will attempt to fill a great void existing in available nursing services. The division of aviation is also under the jurisdiction of this school. This division played a prominent role in the famed Aerospace Workshop which has been a campus feature for the past several years.

Modern technological know-how plays a vital role in the preparation of future careers in that field.

ACCOUNTING

The Accounting Department provides for a broad general education with specialized training for those who wish to enter public or private accounting fields. Organized in 1965, it now offers forty-five hours in accounting of which thirty-three hours are required for an accounting major.

In 1966, the MTSU Accounting Society, an honorary professional fraternity, was organized with thirty-nine charter members.

The department has 184 students classified as majors. Forty-five accounting majors have graduated during the past two years. This relatively new department is staffed by six faculty members.

The Agriculture Department has made a dramatic transition from "farming" to "agriculture." Although it still holds to some of the traditional emphases in course work, its curriculum now embraces such modern middle-of-the-century agriculturally-oriented activities as farrier science, equitation, turf management, and others. A new, modern building will soon replace the barrack-type center for classrooms and laboratories.

A major in agriculture may specialize in one of the following areas: Agriculture Business-Economics, Animal Science, and Plant and Soil Science. Preparation embraces occupations such as farm processing and supply companies, government soil conservation and farm and home agencies, and farm management.

The Department sponsors two non-academic organizations, the Rodeo Club and the Block and Bridle Club, and one academic group, the Delta Tau Alpha Fraternity.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

The Business Administration Department offers three major fields of activity. These include Management, Marketing, and General Business Administration. Realizing that the very nature of the departmental objectives are not those issuing from an Ivory Tower, much stress is placed on creating real-life situations in instructional and community related activities. For example, there is a sponsorship of the University Marketing Association which attempts to bring the University and the region closer together. Providing assistance in staging fashion shows in area department stores is one example of a Marketing Association activity.

The department sponsors two professional fraternities, the Alpha Kappa Psi and Pi Sigma Epsilon.

"No erasing, girls!"

practice makes perfect"—a slogan well applied to the mastery of business machines.

Emphases in the Business Education Department include training in the areas of secretarial administration, office management, and professional business teacher education. A "first" for Tennessee institutions of higher education is the MTSU course, Machine Shorthand. In addition, this department has added an electronic classroom, eight new shorthand practice booths, and a room equipped with all electric typewriters.

One of the strong programs in the department is the major in Secretarial Administration which prepares specifically for supervision of stenographic pools and for office managers.

Mr. E. W. Midgett, department head, has a new accounting book poised for publication. It will be issued in paperback format and will be distributed widely.

ECONOMICS

Study in the Economics Department encompasses a wide diversification in keeping with a "dynamic economic world." Targets of graduates of this department are preparation in several areas including the insurance field, private business, banking, teaching, and government employment.

New courses added this year are Collective Bargaining, Labor Law, and Advanced National Income. Several courses in the department are offered for graduate credit and plans are underway for further development of the graduate program.

The campus student activity, Economics and Finance Club, is sponsored by the Economics Department. At present over one hundred majors are pursuing economics.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

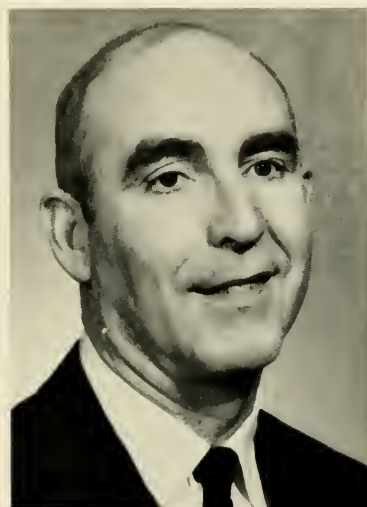

The Industrial Arts Department has designed its curriculum for those persons who wish to teach industrial arts or to qualify for specialized positions in industry. The three basic programs are: Industrial Arts Education, Industrial Management, and Industrial Technology. The department offers a pre-engineering program with the University of Tennessee.

This department sponsors one of the University's most active student organizations, the Industrial Arts Club. Its projects are devoted largely to improving campus physical facilities. The handsome bulletin board near the front steps of the Student Union Building is a case in point. Also sponsored is the Epsilon Pi Tau, an honorary industrial arts fraternity.

Actual application of principles is a basic must for the Industrial Arts students.

An Industrial Arts student needs to be familiar with the use of all the tools of his trade, even the most basic, such as hammers, screwdrivers, saws, etc.

NURSING DEPARTMENT

The Department of Nursing opened for business for the first time this past fall. Mrs. Betty McComas, with many years of nursing administration at both private and government hospitals, serves as department head. The first class of thirty-seven women and three men, were "capped" at services held in January. First year clinical experiences were obtained at the local Rutherford Hospital while second year psychiatric training will be available at the Murfreesboro Veterans' Hospital. Those completing the two-year program will be awarded the Associate Degree and will become full-fledged registered nurses upon examination results administered by the State Board of Nursing Examiners. Nursing was added to the university curriculum in response to demands by hospitals in the region.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Hard work is the only way to attain a permanent education.

The School of Education is an aegis under which the Departments of Art, Education, Health, Physical Education, and Recreation, Home Economics, Music, and the Campus School operate. Its purpose is as old as the institution itself and as young as the minds of the youngsters whom its product will serve. This purpose: to prepare teachers for the classrooms of Tennessee. A dilution of the "Tennessee" localization has naturally modified the instructional approach. The program is not only Tennessee-oriented but is geared to the national scene as well.

From the inception of the University in 1911 until 1939, all registrants were required to sign a "pledge to teach." When the requirement was lifted during that year it did not diminish the University's historical purpose. Progressively more areas of training were provided and many other careers were born on the campus. Yet teacher-trainees increased with rises in enrollment and MTSU remains one of the most important teacher preparation centers in the state.

Research is essential to all branches of education and such modern machines as the Xerox machine make reference materials more accessible to students.

ART

Students are drawn to the Art Department for at least three reasons. First, a program is provided for those desiring to teach the subject, either at the elementary or high school level. Secondly, it serves as a motivating factor in encouraging talented students to pursue art as a career. And finally, it provides an introduction to the world of art for those interested in a well-rounded university education.

The department sponsors many exhibits that are held locally, regionally, and even nationally. Both teachers and students are participants. The staff members are in great demand as lecturers and consultants in the area served by the University.

HOME ECONOMICS

Training in the Vocational Home Economics Department is designed to prepare teachers and specialists in home economics as well as know-how for the future housewife. A great asset to the departmental program is the Nursery School which provides laboratory experiences in child development and family relationships.

The department staff and majors participate in several extra-curricular organizations pertaining to their specific field, some of which include the Home Economics Chapter of Thea-Ahea, Kappa Omicron Phi Fraternity, and professional education groups. For high school seniors interested in home economics, there is a Career Day which is attended by over two hundred students from the area.

EDUCATION, PSYCHOLOGY AND LIBRARY SCIENCE

Despite the great diversity of preparation areas created by state college status and later, university status, MTSU still counts as its greatest one emphasis, that of teacher preparation. One or more University graduates can be found in classrooms of at least three-fourths of Tennessee counties. Thirty-five states and several foreign countries have MTSU representatives in their classrooms.

Areas of preparation include teaching in elementary and secondary schools, guidance, supervision, and an introduction to kindergarten work. Intern stations encompass most of Middle Tennessee. A minor is offered in Library Science and a minor, at least, is proposed for Psychology, effective in the near future.

Student activity programs sponsored by the Education Department are Student N.E.A. and Kappa Delta Pi.

THE LIBRARY

The Andrew L. Todd Library, named in honor of the individual most responsible for bringing MTSU to Murfreesboro, has felt the pinch for space as has some other campus programs. Considerable reorganization and innovations have brought temporary solutions to demands from mushrooming enrollments, but future plans for expansion seem imperative. These are already in the drawing board stage and shortly the "nerve-center" of the campus will spread a portion of its operations to added quarters.

Continuing and greater emphasis on better academic performance has stimulated a wider use of library facilities. Holdings include over 125,000 volumes and numerous open-shelf and bound periodicals, and an increasing backlog of microfilms, microcards, and filmstrips.

The division of Library Service, directed by Miss Leniel Edwards, offers eighteen hours of library training.

MUSIC

"Music Time," Band of Blue, Sacred Harp Singers, and the University Chorus are trade-marks of the Music Department. Similar to the Art Department, it has a trilogy of purposes. Music enrollees study the scale to teach, or to perform professionally as a career, or to simply enjoy music long after the university days are history.

In addition to its rigorous classroom and rehearsal programs, Music Department units appear in full-bloom in such diverse places as the football field, the opera stage, and in classrooms over Middle Tennessee. The latter is in the role of "Music Time" where elementary pupils listen to tapes produced in the department's studio and study textbooks written and published by staff personnel.

Several members of the music faculty have authored articles for national publications and have written special band arrangements which are distributed nationwide.

HEALTH, PHYSICAL EDUCATION, AND RECREATION

The curriculum of the Health, Physical Education, and Recreation Department has a two-fold purposes. First, it is designed to prepare professionals for many career areas including primarily teaching, coaching, and recreation administrators and workers. In reference to coaching, some fifty-five Tennessee high schools have MTSU graduates coaching one or more sports. In the second place, physical education being an integral part of general education, the curriculum provides emphases for carry-over into later life.

The department encourages a strong program in intramurals. Hundreds of students are involved in these after-class activities which include basketball, swimming, tennis, touch football, volleyball, and others.

Campus School Director

CAMPUS SCHOOL

The Campus School, once the Model School of old Normal days, now serves primarily a laboratory center for student observation and some experimentation. Cast in its role as a proponent of good methods and advanced teaching techniques, it has launched several noteworthy projects, largely experimental in nature. The past summer "Between-the-Lakes" program for the upper elementary grades is a prime example. Also, the summer enrichment program sponsored by the Campus School has evinced much favorable publicity and has brought interested observers to the campus.

In addition to its university-related role, the Campus School has its purpose to provide a quality education at the elementary level.

AND SO ENDS ANOTHER YEAR . . .

It is the wish of myself and the staff that this book will reflect the memories of the days past and in doing so, bring to mind that important game, the week of the first rush, that special friend, or a favorite scene.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to the people who have helped to produce this yearbook. I could never have completed this book without the energy, encouragement, and enthusiasm that came from Dr. Homer Pittard and Sharon Duggan. These two have put endless hours of labor into the production of the MIDLANDER. A most sincere thank you goes to these two people. A big thanks also goes to Mr. John Benson, Charlene Lorance, and Al Frazier. Thanks go also to Mrs. Thelma Briley, Mrs. Janet Swift, Mr. Joe Smith, Mr. Sam Causey and Dr. Bealer Smotherman. I would like to thank all faculty and administration members for their fine cooperation.

The MIDLANDER was printed in the offset lithographic process by Benson Printing Company of Nashville, Tennessee.

All our efforts will have been rewarded if this book serves for each individual as a reflection of the year past.

Linda Wilbanks

Sharon Duggan

ADVERTISEMENTS

Our advertising friends have always played an integral role in financing the yearbook. There was a time when business managers agreed that yearbook advertising was something resembling a "frozen" commodity. However, with continually improving lay-out patterns, inclusion of spot color (even full color), and the interspersing of student pictures in the section, a most significant "thaw" has taken place. Yearbook advertising is good advertising by the accepted definition.

The yearbook staff appreciates the confidence of these friends of the University and hopes that all of the readers of these pages will reflect their appreciation by patronizing these friends.

MTSU BOOKSTORE

"Serving all MTSU students"

As a yearbook editor, wouldn't you like—

✓ complete creative art assistance in planning and designing your book

✓ actual known production performances (by records) of substantially less than 10 weeks, as required by most yearbook manufacturers. No contract claims, either, of an additional 4 days on delivery for each 1 day any deadline is missed

✓ an association with a firm who has specialized in designing yearbooks perhaps longer than any other company

✓ our insistence of your reading and checking page proofs to avoid (or at least minimize) possible glaring errors in the completed edition

✓ an all out effort to please you in design, quality, and service at competitive prices

What more could you ask?
